SUMMER HINTS.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Poultry Correspondent says:—

Summer hints resolve themselves into a repetition of items easily forgotten. For instance, we are always warning our readers against the dangers of overcrowding, and yet we find it so difficult ourselves to thin down the stock at this season that we are in danger of breaking the rules we make for others. It is a difficult problem, but an important one, and we must attend to it or suffer. We have suggested, where possible, to spread the birds over the land and get them out of their houses, but this can only be done by farmers and others who have plenty of space. Early potatoes are now being dug, and if there are movable houses available the birds could be placed in the fields, where there would be abundance of insects, which could be got rid of in this way.

SHIRLEY POPPIES.

Writing on this subject in the Weekly Irish Times, the Garden Correspondent says:—

Frail and fleeting as is the peerless progeny of the old field Poppy, for which we are indebted to the floral conjuring of the late Rev. W. Wilks, of Shirley Vicarage, Surrey, we place it in the front rank of hardy annuals for present sowing. For this a spare, sunny plot in the garden is not grudged, in which the minute seeds are well raked in, and that is wanted. Of late years a double-flowered form of the Shirleys has been achieved by the florists, who, while gaining much, have lost something in the doubling, and we think the elegant single flowers of the original are not to be improved on. Of other Poppies for present sowing and next season's early flowering we have the showy umbrossum in scarlet and black, and Dannebrog, the latter with the Danish colours, scarlet petals with a white blotch, all worth having; but the Shirleys are indispensable.

THE LONDON GOLD MARKET.

Dealings in the London gold market are now reaching record figures. Instead of the weekly offering rarely exceeding £1,000,000 of metal from the Cape, gold in substantial amounts is now sold in London almost every day. Business last week was on an unusually large scale. Well over £4,000,000 of gold was disposed of. Some of it came from the Cape, and the balance from Indian hoards. Since September last Indian shipments to London have reached the enormous total of £56,850,000, of which just over £2,000,000 is now on the ocean on its way to London. The stream of gold from India does not yet show signs of drying up. More of the metal has come out of Indian hoar... than out of the South African mines in the past ten months. Last week's large transactions have mystified the city. Of the total of £4,000,000, it is stated that all but some £296,000 has been taken by "undisclosed buyers." The Evening Standard reveals the identity of those mystery buyers in the London market. The great bulk of the gold has been acquired by American banks for shipment to New York. One consignment of just over £500,000 was actually shipped last week, and another purchase was put through on a forward basis, £1,280,000 being taken for delivery on Wednesday next. The explanation given by the banks which have carried through these large operations is the purchase of gold is at the moment most satisfactory method of remitting m... from London to New York.

THE WENDEL MILLIONS.

EX-ARMY MAN'S STORY.

CLAIMANT'S EARLY LIFE.

THE evidence of a Manchester man, regarding a death-bed declaration, is considered of some importance in connection with the law case which is now in progress in America concerning claims to the vast fortune left by Miss Ella Wendel, an aged millionairess recluse.

Within the last few days an American lawyer has made the trans-Atlantic crossing to take statements from the man concerned—Mr. Bernard Morris, an Army pensioner, of Tyndall street, Manchester, who was reared as the brother of Mr. Thomas Patrick Morris, one of the claimants to the £20,000,000.

Mr. Bernard Morris said to a Press reporter yesterday:—"Tommy, as we always knew the claimant, was brought up in my family at Dundee, and all my brothers and sisters had never a doubt through childhood that he was the son of my father and mother.

REVEALED ON DEATH-BED.

"As she lay dying in 1904, however, my mother called my sister, Rose Ann, to her bedside, and in her last moments told her that Tommy was no relative of ours. She said that he was the son of Mary Ellen Divine, who had come to our house when the child was expected.

"Within a fortnight of his being born the mother disappeared from the home while my mother was out shopping.

"The story was told to the whole family after the funeral, but Tommy maintained his connection with us for a few years.

"My sister Rose was induced early in the year to search an old box in which my father in his lifetime kept his private papers. There she found a marriage certificate of a man named Wendel and a woman named Mary Ellen Divine, whose birthplace was stated to be Edinburgh. The certificate showed that the marriage had taken place in America.

A MIXED MARRIAGE.

"Lying at the bottom of the old family box were also letters on which the ink had faded until it had become almost indecipherable. My sister, however, was able with difficulty to unravel the contents of these letters.

"They revealed that Mary Divine, a staunch Roman Catholic, had married Wendel, a Methodist, on the understanding that he would come over to her faith.

"After the marriage he seemed to have refused to keep this promise. This led to a series of quarrels, and in the end the wife went to Scotland with the determination to ensure that the child she was expecting would be brought up in a Catholic home.

"When I was thirteen and Tommy seventeen, he and my father had one of their frequent quarrels, during which Tommy ran from the house. As he left, my father said: 'What can you expect? He is no son of mine.'

MYSTERIOUS MONEY.

"As a matter of fact we used to get a mysterious packet of money from America about twice a year.

"Once a sum of money sent was so substantial that my father, a shoemaker, was able to leave the boot factory where he worked and buy a shop of his own in the city.

"But, most important of all, I recall the four visits of a foreign-looking man to our house in the years 1895-1901. When this man came he always asked for Tommy, and displayed unusual affection towards him.

"I am convinced now that this man was none other than Wendel, visiting Dundee, in search of his long-lost wife."

Mr. Morris was asked by the American lawyers if he remembered seeing a private book among Tommy's possessions. Mr. Morris told the Press reporter that he had seen one, and that that was a blue book, given to his foster-brother on his twenty-first birthday by Wendel.

HUNDREDS CLAIM FORTUNE.

According to a Reuter message from New York, received during the week-end, there have been hundreds of claimants to the vast fortune left by Miss Ella Wendel.

The latest claimant, says Reuter, is Mr. Thomas Patrick Morris, a house painter, of Dundee, who last week in New York testified in court that he was the son of Miss Wendel's brother, Gottlier, who was secretly married to a Miss Mary Ellen Divine, although he was always supposed to be a bachelor.

Thomas Sivyer (31), a farmer, of Limpsfield, Surrey, died in hospital at Rochester early yesterday from head injuries. Simyer was staying with friends at Rochester and was aroused by tapping at the window. When he opened the door he saw a number of foreign sailors. Later he was found injured, and was taken to hospital.

COWES WEEK OPENED.

BRITANNIA WINS EASILY.

CROWDS CHEER THE KING'S SUCCESS.

THE King, sailing his yacht Britannia, scored an easy victory yesterday in the first race of the Royal London Yacht Club Regatta, which commenced Cowes Week.

The King's win was witnessed by a huge bank holiday crowd, the thousands of visitors coming from all parts of the Isle of Wight.

Britannia was competing in a handicap race for yachts of the "J" class and old yachts above 70 feet rating, and her opponents included the redoubtable Shamrock V.

Britannia made a fine start and went ahead in great style. At the end of the second round her lead had been further increased, and she finished an easy winner to the delight of the crowd, which cheered and cheered again.

HANDICAP TIMES.

The result of the race on handicap times was as follows:—1, Britannia (the King); 2, Shamrock V. (T. O. M. Sopwith); 3, Westward (T. B. S. Davis).

In sailing time Britannia was about seven minutes ahead of the following yachts. On handicap Westward gave Shamrock V. 1 minute 49 seconds; White Heather, 3 minutes 50 seconds, and Britannia and Astra five minutes.

SMART AMERICANS.

American competitors, in the Six-Metre International Class, scored an outstanding victory. They were very smart in crossing the line, and three of their four boats were home first. The result was:—1, Bob Kat II. (Robert B. Meyer, U.S.A.); 2, Lucie (Briggs S. Cunningham, U.S.A.); 3, Nancy (Olin J. Stephens, U.S.A.).

There were no house parties ashore yesterday, but the Queen landed at East Cowes, with Lady Shaftesbury, and had tea with friends.

COUNTESS INJURED.

MRS. BARNEY IN MOTOR COLLISION.

Countess Karolyi, wife of the Hungarian statesman, was driving a car in Cannes (French Riviera) on Saturday night when she came into collision with a powerful car driven by Mrs. Elvira Dolores Barney, daughter of Sir John and Lady Mullens, Belgrave square, London.

The cars were locked together and dashed into a wall enclosing the new Cannes tennis courts. The engine of the Countess Karolyi's car was completely wrecked. Mrs. Barney's car was not so badly damaged.

The Countess, bleeding and unconscious, was taken to hospital. Mrs. Barney was uninjured, but suffered from shock. Her companion, Mr. Arthur Speck, an Englishman, aged 34, was slightly bruised.

Mrs. Barney and her companion were requested to go immediately to the police station to answer questions. They were asked to remain at the disposal of the authorities if needed. Mr. Speck said that the Countess Karolyi's car cut across the road before Mrs. Barney had time to apply the brakes.

In an endeavour to escape the blaze of publicity which has enveloped her as a result of the motor collision Mrs. Barney has left the hotel where she stayed after the accident, and has disappeared without leaving an address.

CURE AT LOURDES.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
LOURDES, Monday.

A twenty-three years old Lancashire girl, Miss Mary Kellett, who has been lying on her back with spinal trouble for twenty months, was lying on her stretcher in the pouring rain at Mass at the Grotto to-day, when immediately after she had received Holy Communion, she gave a gasp and sat up, declaring that all pain had left her.

Amid a throng of excited worshippers, she was transferred from her stretcher to a bath-chair and wheeled back to the hospital. There she was able to get out of the chair and walk.

Miss Kellett was immediately examined by the Lourdes Medical Bureau, which decided that, as it was a question not of an organic lesion, but of a functional disorder, which might be cured by a sudden shock or emotion, there was no cause to make a special report on the case.

THE AMERICAN MARKETS.

SENTIMENT OF MARKET REMAINS CHEERFUL: EASY CLOSE.

REUTER'S TELEGRAMS.
NEW YORK, Monday.

The Stock Exchange opened steady to-day. Wall street doubts whether the upward movement can continue to make uninterrupted headway, but the sentiment of the market remains comparatively cheerful.

Beginning to-day, the Federal Reserve Banks are authorised to make direct loans to individuals, partnership and corporations. In this connection the Reserve Board's provisions make it clear that no loans will be made except on cast-iron security.

Early in the morning session the list developed some irregularity under the influence of profit-taking sales, but in the later trading the leading issues generally registered advances of a point or so. There was no particular news of a nature to influence the market.

In the absence of a technical reaction, such as the financial community generally has been inclined to expect following the prolonged advance, bullish speculators resumed operations for a rise during the afternoon. As a result they managed to push up leading issues. Rails were dull and little changed.

Wall street is somewhat perplexed regarding the outcome of the German elections, but sees the possibility of a greater political stability resulting.

Some realising took place in the late trading and many issues yielded portions of their earlier advances. The market closed easy.

CHICAGO MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Monday.

Trading on the grain market to-day was of a light and featureless nature. Prices backed and filled with operators awaiting the issue of private estimates. The firmer trend of the Stock market and buying by Eastern interests had a bullish effect on the wheat market to-day, but this influence was offset by reports of beneficial rains in the North-West, together with scattered hedge pressure and a lack of general buying interest. Maize values early declined on liquidation and stop-loss selling, while reports of beneficial rains in the Mid-West, the favourable outlook for the crop, and heavy country bookings were additional depressing factors. Quotations in the rye market moved in sympathy with those of wheat. Hedge pressure accounted for a decline in oats, the fall being influenced by the bearish action of the maize market.

LINDBERGH BABY MYSTERY.

DR. DOBSON PEACOCK ON THE UNDERWORLD.

The Rev. Dr. H. Dobson Peacock, Rector of Christchurch, Virginia, who played an important part in the search for the Lindbergh baby, arrived in Birmingham late on Sunday night. He travelled from France by air, and is staying with his mother at Ansell road, Erdington, Birmingham.

He told a Press Association reporter yesterday that he was in England on a two months' vacation, and intended to devote most of the time to resting and part to research work.

Dr. Dobson Peacock described as substantally correct a statement attributed to him which referred to the feeling in the underworld when the body of the baby was found. It was as follows:—

"I will say this: I believe there were no people in the world so surprised when the body of the Lindbergh baby was found as members of the underworld in America. They honestly thought that they were going to have it returned alive. We all did our best, straightforwardly and honestly. I really thought with many others that the baby was alive."

ENGLAND NOT DOWN AND OUT.

SIR BOYD MERRIMAN'S DECLARATION.

Sir Boyd-Merriman, Solicitor-General, speaking at a Unionist fete at Ford Castle, near Berwick, the seat of Lord Joicey, yesterday, drew a contrast between the position of the country on last August Bank Holiday and its position now. The remarkable recovery of the country, and the great War Loan conversion scheme, he said, showed that the country was not down and out. He believed that the wheat quota would end in farmers selling wheat at less than the cost of production. Already half a million additional acres had been put under the plough.

INDUSTRIES FAIR POSTER.

BRITANNIA AS AMAZON.

Britannia is shown as an Amazon in the new British Industries Fair poster by Mr. Tom Purvis, 70,000 copies of which are in process of being printed for display throughout the civilised world.

"I have chosen an Amazon type for my Britannia," said Mr. Purvis in an interview, "because the figure had to be massive in order to avoid any suggestion of effeminacy in the poster. You could not have an effeminate Britannia advertising an industrial exhibition, could you?"

"Look at the lady's forearm; I am afraid that even among the hardest of women workers there is no forearm like it to-day. It is not, in fact, done from a real forearm. My one model for the poster has been a girl of twenty-three, who sat for the beckoning finger, and it is the finger which gives the whole appeal, the invitation to trade buyers in all quarters of the globe."

The poster shows Britannia with upraised forearm, silhouetted in white against a deep blue background, with "B.I.F., 1933," in solid lettering of bright red. The Fair's opening date (February 20) is being added in eight languages for the versions used abroad.

DEATH-ROLL IN CANTON FLOODS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.
SHANGHAI, Tuesday.

Eighty-seven persons are reported to have been drowned, or to have lost their lives in the collapse of houses, as a result of the floods at Canton. The higher figures earlier reported appear to be very exaggerated.

THE OLYMPIC GAMES.

TISDALL'S GREAT DISPLAY. NURMI'S SUCCESSOR.

REUTER'S TELEGRAM.
STADIUM, LOS ANGELES, Monday.

GREAT BRITAIN fared as well as could be hoped for on the opening day of the track and field events at the Olympic Games. Of six British competitors, Lord Burghley, T. Hampson and J. V. Powell got through their preliminary heats, while the others, F. P. Reid, E. L. Page and S. C. Fuller, were eliminated.

IRISHMAN IN HURDLES FINAL

Although beaten by his old Italian rival, Luigi Facelli, into second place in his first heat of the 400 metres hurdles, and into third place in the semi-final, Lord Burghley is hurdling beautifully, and, as at Amsterdam, he is likely to reverse the placings with his conquerors of yesterday in to-day's final. His most dangerous rival would, on yesterday's running, appear to be the Irishman, R. M. N. Tisdall, a fellow Light Blue, who is representing his country. Tisdall led from start to finish in both his races, and he finished with such power that the holder will have to produce a great burst over the last hurdle.

(YESTERDAY'S RESULTS IN PAGE 8.)

T. Hampson and J. V. Powell, England's two half-milers, did some sterling running to qualify for the next round.

Hampson appears to be extremely fit. He allowed the American, Turner, and Sera Martin to do the donkey work, but when it came to making the final effort Hampson passed his opponents on the home straight, and won very comfortably in the excellent time of 1 min. 53 secs.

BRITISH CHAMPION'S INJURY.

The danger to Hampson appears to be Eddie Genung, the American, who has won the American national half-mile title three years in succession in exceptionally fast time.

J. V. Powell, who came up against this American crack in his heat, showed fine pluck to finish third. It was in this heat that a srimmage occurred on the last bend. Jean Keller, of France, considered that he had been unfairly crossed by the Canadian champion, Phil Edwards, and he lodged a protest.

This, however, the International Amateur Athletic Committee over-ruled.

In the first sprints heat of the afternoon R. P. Reid, the British champion, tore a ligament in his leg, and was forced to pull up. Reid has been troubled with this muscle before, and it was not altogether surprising that it gave under the strain.

The young Blackheath harrier, E. L. Page, made a brave attempt. He raced pluckily in the first round to qualify for the second, but in this he met the probable winner, the negro, R. Metcalfe, who has been achieving notoriety with his sprinting this year. Page ran well, but not fast enough, and was beaten by inches by the New Zealand runner, A. J. Elliott.

TOLAN'S BRILLIANT SPRINTING.

America's strength in sprints was exemplified by her winning three out of four of the second round heats, through George Simpson, and the two negros, Metcalfe and Eddie Tolan, the latter of whom equalled Paddock's world's record. Poland has evidently found in Janusch Kusokinski a successor to Paavo Nurmi, whose Olympic record for the 10,000 metres he smashed by as much as seven seconds, his time being 30 minutes 11 3-10th seconds.

This race has for the past decade been the prerogative of Finland, who had men like Kohlemainen, Ritola, and Nurmi to represent her.

Two other finals were decided—putting the weight and the high jump—which were respectively won by Leo Sexton (United States) and Duncan McNaughton, of Canada.

"ARMOURED" BAG.

MAKES THINGS DIFFICULT FOR SNATCHERS.

A bag designed to foil the bag-snatching gentry has been invented by the Chief Constable of Brighton (England), Mr. Charles Griffin, and is now used by local police and town officials for carrying large sums of money.

To all appearances it is just like an ordinary leather bag which bank messengers use to carry money, but attached to the handle are a steel chain and handcuffs, which the messenger puts round his wrist. The chain is made of specially tempered steel, which could not be cut through in less than five minutes. The bag itself is lined with forged steel links to prevent the would-be thief from slashing through it.

"The success of bag-snatching raids depends on speed," Mr. Griffin said. "Bag-snatchers could not possibly take this bag away; they would have to carry the man away, too."

"Split the Differ" : By the Liffey : Essay in Language.
A Poetic Phrase : The Song and the Slump.

Tactics on Burgh Quay.

The pavement on the Liffey side of Burgh quay, as most people have noticed at one time or another, is below the level of the roadway. The side of the road is a popular parking place for cars, and, partly in order to prevent the cars from rolling down upon the pavement, there is a little parapet, raised about six or eight inches above the road level. I have often spent an interesting ten minutes or so in watching the cars approach this little parapet. The drivers reveal all sorts of idiosyncrasies in their manner of backing up to it. Some lean out over the side, and ease their cars gradually backwards until they stop with a few inches to spare, after which the final impact is easy. Others do not trouble to apply their brakes. They steer cheerfully to the parapet, and hit it with a sounding bump—an equally effective, if less delicate, practice. They are very few who judge the distance to a nicety, and roll their cars to the perfect position, stopping just in time to avoid contact.

Thievery on the Sidewalk.

Talking of this park on Burgh quay, I am reminded of an incident which is said to have occurred there about two years ago. Perhaps, somebody has invented the story, but, for all that I know, it may be true. It is said that two people drove up in an expensive car, parked it beside the quay, and entered the Theatre Royal. Shortly afterwards four men, wearing overalls and carrying a tool-kit, appeared. They raised the bonnet of the car, took out the engine and carried it away on a small lorry. The police and public in the neighbourhood watched them with interest, but not with particular interest. Then the owners came out of the theatre. They climbed into the car and pressed the self-starter. Nothing happened, and they raised the bonnet, to find the engine gone. Some time later, according to the story, the engine was returned to them, and it appeared that the mechanics had been four friends, who did the whole thing for a bet.

It is a good story, and I should like to know whether it is anything more. Perhaps, some reader can set my mind at rest.

Essay in Language.

A correspondent writes:

I have wondered whether it would be possible to compare the propensity of different nations to liquor by the number of words which they possess to describe the toper's happy state. Somebody with a subtler knowledge of foreign argots would be needed to make the comparison, and for the convenience of such a person, if anyone cares to take on the job, I have jotted down the few words in common use in Ireland which occur to me. They are arranged vaguely according to the intensity of the experience which they describe.

Quite apart from the literary words that express his condition, such as intoxicated, drunk, or tipsy, and the rest of the classic band, a man can be mellow, pleasant, merry, tight, under the influence, happy, well away, creamy, lit, on top of the world, squiffy, primed, greased, illuminated, fuzzy, ginned, tiddly, cock-eyed, pie-eyed, skew-eyed, oiled, corked, tanked, canned, kippered, half-seas over, three sheets in the wind, binged, blotto, toped, jarred, skitthered, aslant, muzzy, skewed, pickled, blued, blithero, rambacious, soaked, stewed, bowsy, rotto, blind, blind to the world, saturated, sozzled, sodden, soused, stocious, footless, stupid, hopeless, rotten, under the table, oblivious, in the jigs, elephants, paralytic, and seeing things.

Variety.

These, of course, are only adjectives and adjectival phrases. Of other phrases there are plenty and more poetic. I have not taken much trouble to set the above contributions into what I presume to be their correct order, but I have no doubt that some of your better informed readers will make their own adjustments. A few of the words, of course, are used loosely to describe any or every stage of the bacchanal progress, according to taste. "Pleasant," for instance, generally represents the subject's condition with fair accuracy. Yet I have heard it used at no less decorous a place than the front gate of Trinity College to describe an undergraduate who lay on the floor of a taxi with no more sign of life than the mummy in a museum.

The Luck Penny.

A friend from London, anxious to discover the real Ireland, visited a country fair the other day and was delighted with all he saw. He was especially interested in the busybody who turned up, as if by magic, when a bargain was under discussion, and straightway taking full control—though both parties were unknown to him—proceeded to "make a deal of it." No matter how great the discrepancy was between the price asked and the offer made, the dissatisfied party was advised to "split the differs," whilst the buyer was frequently assured of the generosity of the seller in the words "He'll threat ye decent."

In my friend's opinion the amount of "the luck" often took longer to arrange than the amount of the actual price. He was somewhat mystified by the term, and asked me for an explanation. I explained that, on the completion of a sale, it was customary for the seller to give the purchaser back part of the money paid, to bring him good luck, the gift usually being accompanied by a liberal deposit of saliva. Apparently, our faith in our fellow-man is not what it once was, and in these days the amount of "the luck" is usually arranged when the price is fixed. Even yet, however, the luck-penny frequently takes liquid form, when the parties of the first and second part, together with the intermediary, adjourn to the nearest bar to drink to the bargain just made. "Now I understand," said my friend, "where the bargain-maker comes in. I had doubted if such persuasive eloquence could spring from purely altruistic motives."

Prosperity Songs.

America's latest discovery is the value of the popular song as an incentive to national prosperity. It is said that Mr. Rudy Vallée has been promised a Congressional medal if he can compose a song which will make the people forget their worries. American newspapers, cinemas, restaurants and music halls are being flooded with prosperity poems at the rate of thirty and forty a day. So far the prosperity poem has not been discovered, and most of the efforts run on these lines:—

Oh, it's just round the corner, bay-bee
Prosperitee, an' I don't mean may-bee.

Rather more popular has been:—

From Ma'ne to Alabammy
Ev'ry uncle, ev'ry mammy,
Ev'ry trade an' ev'ry profession
Hollers: "Down with the depression."

MOTORING ALONE TO CALCUTTA.

PROGRESS OF CAR v. LINER RACE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BAGDAD, Monday.

After being lost for five hours in a dust storm, Captain Yates-Benyon passed through Bagdad yesterday in the 10 h.p. British car, in which he is attempting to race the liner Manora (8,000 tons), from London to Calcutta. The storm overtook him after he left Ruthab.

When at last he sighted a red light he set out towards it, only to find himself back where he started. The light belonged to the Ruthab wireless station.

Captain Yates-Benyon has now left for Hamadan (Persia), having overcome the most difficult part of his 8,000 miles journey—the 550 miles of desert between Damascus and Bagdad.

He set out from London on July 9th and has travelled about 4,000 miles, averaging 170 miles daily. The Manora left Aden on July 27th, and is expected at Calcutta about August 12th.

ROLLICKING FUN AT THE OLYMPIA.

Plenty of rollicking fun, with touches of sentiment, is provided in Mr. John MacDonagh's revue, "Up for the Show," which is being presented at the Olympia Theatre, Dublin, this week.

There are no fewer than 16 scenes, and in most of these Dick Forbes appears and makes good use of his gift as a fun-maker. In these he is well supported by Charles Carey and Dick Smith, the latter being a graceful dancer and pleasing singer.

Enthusiastic applause was given last night to Miss Margaret Dempsey and Mr. J. C. Browner for their patriotic song scena, while they also pleased the audience with their individual efforts. The Ten Show Girls are a lively troupe of dancers, who sing agreeably, while another pleasing performer is Miss Kathleen Bland. The orchestra, conducted by Mr. John Moody, rendered some excellent music.

IRISH AVIATION ENTERPRISE.

A series of aerial tours of Ireland, in cabin aircraft of the latest type, has been arranged by Iona National Airways, Ltd.

The first tour of the series will embrace the Lakes of Killarney and the rest of the County Kerry. On the flight down from the Kildonan Aerodrome, Dublin, a stop will be made at Limerick for lunch, and the passengers will pay a visit by motor car to the Shannon scheme at Ardnacrusha.

With the tour of Kerry completed another halt will be made at Limerick for tea, after which the passengers will fly back to the Kildonan Aerodrome. Details of the flights are set out in our advertising columns.

"ALMOST VULGAR TO HAVE BABIES."

A PRIEST ON MODERN IDEAS.

The Rev. Father Owen F. Dudley, of Brondesbury Park, London, addressing a demonstration at Durham yesterday, declared that the modern idea was to put the home in the background. The extreme modern idea was to abolish the home, as in Russia, and make the children State property, and the final idea would be to abolish children.

"In the pagan world outside the Catholic world it is becoming almost vulgar to have babies," he said. "We are beginning to enter upon a war between the Catholic Church and the world—a war for the Christian home. Unbelieving, materialistic scientists and philosophers are systematically undermining all that the Church stands for.

"I should say that something like eighty per cent. of the films now being shown are either subversive of the sanctity of the Christian marriage bond, or are condoning free love, or are displaying sensuality as the supreme thing in life. If you remove the Christian marriage bond, as the enemies of the Church would do, the whole structure of Christian civilisation would collapse, and with it would vanish the magic word 'home.'"

Father Dudley said that parents were loved only to the extent of the pocket-money they gave to children who regarded home as a hotel for bed and breakfast.

FAST CAR DUEL.

MACHINE LEAVES TRACK AND CRASHES.

Sir Henry Birkin, driving the Hon. Dorothy Paget's super-charged single seater Bentley, flashed past his rival, Mr. John Cobb, in a twelve cylinder Delage, within a few yards of the finishing line at Brooklands yesterday after a race which was the outcome of discussions as to which car was the faster over three laps.

The Bentley was addmitedly faster, once it got going, but Cobb's car has the most powerful acceleration of any racing car in Great Britain.

Sir Henry covered the three laps at 125.14 m.p.h., and on the third round averaged 137.30 m.p.h., nearly equal to his lap record.

In the August Senior Mountain Handicap Mr. P. Fothingham Parker had a narrow escape from death, his car skidding and shooting over the edge of the track.

It dropped over twenty feet and crashed into some trees, but was little damaged, and Mr. Parker, whose face was injured, walked unaided back to the enclosure.

OLD CROCKS' RACE.

In the "old crocks" race thirty-six real genuine "antiques" took part. one of them won an award in the first 1,000 miles motor trial held in this country.

Another was believed to have been the first car to have been used on the road in Ireland.

The race was won by Mr. F. L. Wigginton, in a 1902 Wolseley, which had been used as a hen roost for fourteen years before being brought back to a life of "speed."

Milkman Wins The Flitch.

A Blissful Boil.

MR. SAMS, of Station road, Dunmow, rises early in the morning. He is a milkman. At the famous Dunmow Flitch trial yesterday he convinced hundreds of newly-wed couples who had come to gather hints that he who rises early can find bliss, and he proved it by telling of a boil that brought him happiness.

Through his counsel he told of a wonderful courtship over four and a half romantic years, which culminated in happiness. Mr. Sams was immediately accepted when he proposed, Mrs. Sams demonstrating her appreciation of his bravery when, with a boil on his neck, he attended a surgery where she worked.

If the jury had any doubts left Mr. Sams dissipated them when he gave evidence. Although as a milkman he went to all sorts of houses, he said, and there were no male customers on his round, his wife had never been jealous. He denied that the boil was due to excessive drinking of milk.

Mrs. Sams declared that when the doctor attended the boil her husband stood the dressing well.

Mrs. Sams never wavered under the "gruelling" cross-examination of Mr. Philip Guedalla (for Bacon), and her evidence and the husband's boil won the flitch for the claimants.

The trial of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Potter, of Aberfeldy street, Poplar, was a recital of marital bliss.

Mr. Guedalla had a difficult case to handle, and the claimants took the bacon.

The hearing of this "case" was broadcast

A WINDSOR WOOING.

In the case of Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Nicholls, of Axminster, Devon, Mr. Davies (counsel for the claimants) said that they had come to Essex and Dunmow that day on the anniversary of their wedding, which took place in 1900. Mr. Nicholls wooed Miss Bragg at Windsor. At the time she was being courted by a Grenadier Guardsman, who played the bassoon. Her heart, unlike the walls of Jericho, did not fall. Mr. Nicholls was married in a plum-coloured hat, which he lost in the honeymoon train. The couple had virtually every taste in common, and they conducted a fancy bazaar together at Axminster. When first married Mr. Nicholls earned 22s. 6d. a week. When they first met it was in a quarrelling scene on the stage at Windsor, the only time they had ever quarrelled. Every night before retiring to bed Mr. Nicholls brushed his wife's hair with the same care that a gardener gave to a rare exotic plant.

After a short retirement, the jury returned a verdict for the claimants.

Arrangements were made afterwards for the successful couples to be chaired round the grounds before taking the oath, and finally having sentence pronounced upon them and the flitches actually awarded.

During the trial a severe thunderstorm swept over Dunmow. There were blinding flashes of lightning and torrential rainfall. Girls in flimsy summer frocks and without coats were drenched.

"BITTER SWEET."

RETURN VISIT TO GAIETY THEATRE.

There was an excellent attendance at the Gaiety Theatre last night for the opening performance of "Bitter Sweet," Noel Coward's very beautiful operetta, which will hold the stage for the next fortnight. The work, when presented at this theatre last autumn, drew crowded houses, and, no doubt, it will be well patronised during the present season. It is a really delightful production, one of the most human and appealing stories that Noel Coward has written for the stage, and round it there are woven haunting melodies, which help to bring home the point of the story of Lady Shayne's love, which made her life "Bitter Sweet."

Noel Coward's touches are delightful in places. He has reproduced very faithfully the life of the seventies and eighties of the last century in London and in Vienna, and later he scores very effectively over the fin de siecle ways of London, one of his cleverest skits being that at the cult of the dilettantes, who are most humorously caricatured in the quartet "Green Carnations."

At the head of a very talented company are Miss Kathlyn Hilliard, as Lady Shayne; Arthur Lucas, as Carl Linden, and Miss Renee Reel, as La Crevette. Miss Hilliard was in splendid form last night. She simply lived the character, and her singing was marked by rare beauty and charm, particularly in the big moments at the close of the third act, when she quite swept the audience with her in the song "I'll see you again." Miss Renee Reel repeated her previous success in the tempestuous part of the cabaret dancer.

Mr. Arthur Lucas had a warm-hearted welcome from the audience, who were glad to hear this son of Dublin in such excellent singing voice. His voice keeps wonderfully young and fresh, with that lovely quality of appeal that won him so many admirers in the years when he charmed Dublin audiences in this same theatre as a member of the Rathmines and Rathgar Musical Society.

The supporting players are very clever—none more so than the quartet who sing the humorous song, "Ladies of the Town," in the café scene.

The dressing is on the most sumptuous scale, the styles of the ladies' and men's fashions of the different periods being very picturesque, whilst the dances of the period are cleverly done.

It is a first-class entertainment, which should prove a great attraction during its season.

"NO NEED TO POISON WELLS."

AMUSING INCIDENT AT SUMMER SCHOOL.

Mr. H. G. Wells, after his provocative address on Saturday, returned to the Liberal Summer School last night, to listen to Sir Arthur Salter's address on "Stages in Recovery." Mr. Wells stood at the back of the hall, and became the subject of an unintentionally amusing incident.

Sir Arthur Salter, speaking of disarmament and the various methods of warfare, said "There is, for instance, no need for making agreements as to poisoning wells. We don't poison wells."

When the delegates roared with laughter Sir Arthur said: "Please believe me that was entirely unintentional."

In his address Sir Arthur urged that it was necessary to begin negotiations at once with America over war debts. If agreement was impossible, he hoped none of them would default one hundred per cent.

Mr. H. G. Wells, in a brief speech at the close, declared that he had not advocated any coup d'etat, or any dictatorship. "What I had in mind," he said, "was the necessity at the present time for a society—an order of people of goodwill—who are prepared with religious devotion to give their lives to the maintainance of organised civilisation."

TCHEHOV PLAY AT GATE THEATRE.

"THE CHERRY ORCHARD."

Mme. Ranevsky .... Sara Allgood.
Lopahin .... Hilton Edwards.
Trofimov .... Micheal MacLiammoir.

WHEN the final curtain fell on "The Cherry Orchard" last night Miss Sara Allgood was repeatedly cheered and applauded in recognition of her return to Ireland after some years' absence. She has taken a short contract with the Gate Theatre Company, and will play for the first six weeks of their present season, which has just begun.

The play itself is a most difficult one in every sense, and it is an indication of considerable courage on the part of the company that they chose it for their opening production. Although the drama was first acted as far back as 1904, Tchehov's stage technique is still unfamiliar to us, and it is necessary to leave a good many of one's preconceived ideas behind when one goes to see it.

Pessimism, as in everything that Tchehov wrote, is the prevailing note of this "comedy," which is really a study of the old Russian aristocracy in the final stages of its decay. "The Cherry Orchard" and the family house are symbols of the old régime and the play ends with the sound of axes among the trees which are being cut down to make way for villas.

The dramatist is not concerned, however, with pity at the passing of the old order: his purpose is to show why that type of person could no longer hold its place in life. There is an air of hopeless inefficiency among all the characters; they give gold coins to beggars when their servants have not enough to eat; they mislay their belongings; they seem to be altogether shiftless.

THE TYPICAL EXCEPTION.

It is typical of the dramatist's treatment that the only one among them who has sense enough to see how things are is a student who cannot even pass his college courses. Lopahin, the parvenu sees the realities of life better than they do; he buys up their cherry orchard and all that it stood for.

More subtle is the way in which their absolute selfishness is presented. They take no interest in the conversation of their neighbours, but insist on talking about their own affairs. This, it may be noted, is responsible for a great deal of the apparent inconsequence in the dialogue. The only unselfish character in the whole play is Firs, the old valet, and they leave him behind, forgotten, in the empty house.

Sara Allgood, of course, acted finely in the part of Madame Ranevsky, though the part hardly suited her as well as some others in which she has been seen. Hilton Edwards was, perhaps, a trifle too uncouth as Lopahin, the merchant, but Micheal Mac Liammoir had a part that suited him perfectly, and he played it really well. The other members of the cast were satisfactory.

The setting and lighting, especially in the second and third acts, were admirable

PROCESSION OF NAKED FAKIRS.

WEIRD PAGEANTRY AT REVIVAL OF ANCIENT INDIAN CUSTOM.

In the uncanny light of the "false dawn," preceded by a cohort of bearers carrying silver maces, and elephants surmounted by silver howdahs, a procession of naked fakirs (religious mendicants) wound its way through two miles of streets at Trimbak, in the Nasik district of the Bombay Presidency, yesterday.

Smeared with ashes, but boasting no other form of covering or adornment, the "holy men" lined up round a pool at the source of the sacred River Goadaveri, telegraphs Reuter's special correspondent.

With the reddish glare of waving torches throwing fitful gleams of light on their brown bodies, they waited at the edge of the dark water. A few tense moments, then the signal.

As one man the ascetics—some 175 in number—plunged into the pool, and there rose the shout, "Har Mahadeo," the war cry of the Mahrattas to the God of Destruction.

It is nearly eighty years since a similar ceremony was seen at the Simhasth Fair at Trimbak.

In olden days the procession took place in broad daylight. Three abreast, the naked devotees marched to the pool with banners flying and followed by crowds. In the year 1861, however, a fight took place between two sections of the fakirs. Some said they should be naked. Others denied this "right."

Angry words were succeeded by blows, and the Government forbade any more outings of this nature.

This year, in response to a petition, an order has been issued allowing the processions to take place provided that the number of nude men does not exceed 175 and that they are all back in their monastery by 6 a.m. Anyone found naked outside the monastery after that hour will be liable to prosecution.

The processions are only one incident in the great Simhasth Fair, which lasts for twelve months and takes place only once every twelve years when the sun enters the sign of Leo. Tens of thousands of people come long distances to the fair, camping in the open spaces round the town, and special precautions have to be taken by the authorities to prevent an outbreak of epidemic.

A FILM OF THE WEEK.

RONALD COLMAN AS CRIMINAL WITH HEART OF GOLD.

BY OUR CINEMA CORRESPONDENT.

Ronald Colman remains one of the most attractive of the film stars, in spite of being "the screen's most perfect lover," and even in spite of wearing the kind of moustache that one can only class as effeminate. His character has a good deal in common with that of Douglas Fairbanks, but Fairbanks has always been a showman, while Colman has a natural, unaffected air about him that is one of the chief reasons for his success.

On the screen he is a very engaging fellow. Nothing seems to ruffle his gentlemanly demeanour; he passes in and out of "hot water" with a happy air of taking life just as it comes, and he makes love with the same insouciance that he brings to bear on the most hair-raising situations.

The key to his character (or at least to his film-character) is that he takes nothing seriously, and the producers of "The Unholy Garden," showing this week at the Metropole, have grasped this point very well by refusing to take the story very seriously. The villains, it is true, are as ruffianly as any film "fan" could desire, but they are treated in a vein that is much nearer to comedy than to melodrama. One somehow feels that they are really quite agreeable fellows in their own way; it is not their fault that they live in a sort of nightmare atmosphere where shooting and robbery are taken as a matter of course.

Colman is a fugitive from justice, having robbed a bank, and finally makes his way to Orage, a city of refuge in the middle of the Sahara Desert. Here he puts up at the Palais Royal Inn, a tumbledown residence, whose guests include murderers, swindlers, and a sinister doctor who has been in the habit of poisoning his wives.

As it happens, his entrance coincides with a plan for extracting large sums of money from the eccentric Baron de Jonghe, the owner of the "inn," who is suspected of keeping an enormous amount of ill-gotten gold secreted in his room. As the Baron is blind, most of those present are in favour of direct action, but this plan is abandoned after one of the gang has gone up to the room on a preliminary expedition, and has received a bullet in the arm. As the discomfited man remarks, "he shoots no matter how sociable you are."

As might well be imagined, this is just the kind of life that suits Ronald. He wins the confidence of the old man by pretending to defend him against the attacks of the others, and guarantees to them that by making love to the daughter he will be able to find out where all the money is concealed. Later on he plays off one member of the gang against the others by taking each in turn into his confidence, and drawing their attention to the fact that "the fewer the guys, the bigger the split." All goes well until he really falls in love with the daughter.

From a serious point of view, the film has no claim to be considered an outstanding one, but merely as entertainment it is first-class

Colman as a criminal is an unusual rôle for him, but the producer has taken care to emphasise that he is a criminal with a heart of gold. Fay Wray is charming as the unsophisticated Camille, and the other members of the cast are well chosen. The picture is a United Artists production, and so directed that the action does not flag for a moment. A great many harsh things have been said of Hollywood, but it must be admitted that their producers do know how to tell a story.

THEATRE ROYAL.

A BRIGHT ENTERTAINMENT.

Nellie Wallace, the well-known comedienne, who is also popularly known to wireless listeners, has her own individual way of getting her jokes and "turns" over to the audience. Her appearance is her chief asset, and next in importance are her mannerisms, which are distinct, and, indeed, infectious. The entertainment this week is very lively, and it provides adequate fare for Horse Show Week. As a musical show it is bright, songs are plentiful, and the dancing, particularly the speciality dancing by Terry and Pat Kendall, is enjoyable. One dancing "turn" stands out by itself. It is a waltz fantasy, performed by graceful girls in becoming dress. The show opens and ends in a night club, and in the intervening scenes fun and jollity are the keynote of a revue that is well worth seeing.

STAND ASIDE—A WAY OUT.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE IRISH TIMES.

SIR,—Everyone personally acquainted with Irish political life for years past knows how very easy it is to create, or drift into, a difficult position from which extrication owing to party feeling is well nigh impossible without loss of that which is the life blood of politicians. A way out has to be found if ruin is to be averted. I think the heading of this letter suggests an honourable way out.

When a former great Irish leader, Charles Stewart Parnell, found the country confronted with a sudden calamity he offered to efface himself and resign leadership for the time being if it were for Ireland's welfare.

Mr. de Valera has now an opportunity of showing if he possesses real greatness of character. Is it too great a sacrifice for him to doff the mantle of leadership for a time, and, in doing so, go down to history as showing that his love of country is greater than any personal ambition?—Yours, etc.,

"OCTOGENARIAN."

THE WALTZ.

EDWARD CLARK, conducting Section C of the B.B.C. Orchestra, will broadcast "The Viennese Waltz" from the Daventry National Station, commencing at 7.20 this evening. The programme will be taken as a relay by the Belfast Station. Vienna was the nursery of the waltz and has always been regarded as its home, but Vienna was not its birthplace. The waltz came originally from Germany, and in its original form was a German country dance. These country dances were known as the Landler, and music for them was written by, among others, Schubert and Beethoven. It was Lanner, of Vienna, who wrote a quantity of very delightful dance music, particularly waltzes, some of which are as popular to-day as ever they were, and introduced them to every city in the Continent of Europe. He formed a special band to play his tunes, and one of the first men engaged therein was Richard Strauss, Johann the elder, who in a short time began writing dance music and formed a band of his own. He became a firm favourite, and his waltzes dominated the ballrooms of the world; indeed, they continue to do so.

BALDOYLE RACES.

BANK HOLIDAY MEETING.

Baldoyle yesterday lived up to its reputation as one of the most enjoyable venues for an August Bank holiday. Everyone seemed to have decided to foregather at the Metropolitan course to witness an exciting afternoon's sport. The enclosures were thronged and the stands packed with visitors, many of whom were obviously enjoying their first visit to this country. Although the sky was overcast with clouds the afternoon kept fine and warm, and mackintoshes, which were brought as a precautionary measure, were in no wise required.

Tailormades were worn by most women, with chiffon or satin blouses, accompanied by soft silver fox furs. Many of the diagonal tweeds were utilised to fashion slim coatfrocks, while the smartest styles of headwear were tight-fitting turban caps, generally modelled from two shades of material, cleverly swathed, with scarves to match.

The Governor-General and Mrs. McNeill were present, and watched the racing with keen interest from the Stewards' stand. They were attended by Captain D. O'Sullivan, A.D.C., and Captain P. Wall, A.D.C. Members of the French and Belgian jumping team were among those present.

OFFICES CLOSED.

HOLIDAY SHOCK FOR SWEEP INVESTORS.

Hundreds of cross-Channel visitors who arrived by special steamers from Great Britain yesterday morning with cash and counterfoils for the Hospitals' Trust Sweepstake were much chagrined to find the receiving offices of the Trust closed for the holiday.

They were lucky enough, however, to get in touch with Mr. R. J. Duggan, of the Hospitals' Trust, who, grasping the situation, took the investors along to his own office in Dame street, and issued to them his own receipts for the money and counterfoils.

The visitors were immensely relieved and satisfied with the arrangement, being assured that official receipts would be sent on by post during the week.

IN HOLIDAY VEIN.

DUBLINERS GO OUT.

23,000 VISITORS COME IN.

THE first Monday in August, perhaps the most popular Bank Holiday of the year, opened yesterday morning rather gloomily.

It was cold—for this season of the year—and throughout the day there was a struggle for supremacy between cloud and sun. The former was an easy winner, but, fortunately, there was no rain.

Dubliners were determined to make the best of the holiday, and they did. Many travelled to the Isle of Man, but the vast majority of the citizens preferred a trip to the various popular seaside resorts of County Dublin and County Wicklow. Greystones, Bray, Skerries, Howth, and other attractive spots up and down the coast were largely patronised.

Though Dublin was bereft of a large percentage of its inhabitants, the streets presented an animated appearance by reason of the influx of visitors for the Horse Show.

BRITISH INVASION.

It is estimated that over the week-end 20,000 crossed the Channel from England. Many spent the day sight-seeing and in tours to the beauty spots for which the County Dublin is famous.

Three thousand excursionists were landed at Carlisle Pier, Dun Laoghaire, yesterday morning by L.M.S. steamers from Holyhead.

A party of six hundred travelled to Killarney by special train, the remainder going to Dublin, and subsequently visiting various areas of interest in the Counties Dublin and Wicklow.

The great majority of those who arrived in the morning returned to Holyhead in the evening by the mail boat and two special steamers which were put on the service for the occasion.

SPORTS AND ENTERTAINMENTS.

Hiking is a particularly popular form of recreation this year, and hundreds of young people climbed the Dublin mountains and enjoyed the delightful scenery.

The Zoological Gardens attracted large crowds.

Baldoyle races was the principal outdoor attraction, and there was a very large attendance.

Golf, perhaps, came next in popularity, and the numerous links in the vicinity of Dublin were very largely patronised. Tennis and other games were also well supported.

Theatres and picture houses were crowded, and the special holiday programmes were fully appreciated.

NORTHERN RESORTS.

HOLIDAY CROWDS ENJOY GLORIOUS WEATHER.

Glorious weather favoured the crowds who flocked yesterday to the various holiday resorts in Northern Ireland.

The facilities provided by the railway and 'bus companies were heavily taxed to cope with the traffic. Everywhere the accents of Lancashire and Yorkshire people were to be heard, and it was evident they were enjoying the glorious weather and the delightful scenery to the full.

Bangor, Portrush and Newcastle were crowded, while the smaller seaside resorts all attracted their full quotas.

One party of 500 visitors from Leeds toured the Antrim coast in 'buses, and the L.M.S. steamer cruise round Rathlin Island was well patronised.

NO EXPORTS.

DUBLIN SHIPPING DEADLOCK ACCENTUATED.

Shipping at Dublin port was, as is customary on the Bank Holiday, very slack. This year it was perhaps slower than usual, due to the existence of special duties against the importation of English produce and manufactures.

One vessel, owned by the British and Irish Steamship Company, arrived in port from London carrying general cargo, which was discharged in the early hours. Another smaller steamer also came with assorted cargo, but nothing on which heavy duty had to be paid was imported. There were no exports yesterday, and the only vessel that left Dublin was a steamer bound for the Isle of Man carrying passengers.

NO CONTINENTAL COAL.

On Sunday night and very early on Monday morning six British and two Scottish steamers came to Dublin port with coal cargoes. About 5,000 tons were imported, all of which is liable to duty. The importation of coal on Saturday and Sunday was about 2,000 tons below the usual amount unloaded at Dublin during the week-ends before the duties were imposed.

No coal from Continental countries has yet reached Dublin, according to inquiries made yesterday, and there was an absence of definite information as to when any would be received.

SPENT ON THE DOGS.

A "GOOD BOY" WITH ONE WEAKNESS.

A youth of sixteen, who, apart from the fact that he stole from his father, was said to be a good boy, was charged at North London Police Court yesterday with stealing £80 in notes from his father, Frederick Bishop, a commission agent, of Dalston.

Frederick Walter Bishop, the boy in question, pleaded guilty.

Detective Heath stated that the boy had been missing from home on eight or ten occasions, and had been found wandering. In October last year he was sent to a nautical training school in Cheshire for stealing an attaché case containing four sovereigns and three half-sovereigns from his father. On July 15 last he was allowed home on leave, but on the 21st he took the notes from his father's trouser pocket while the latter was asleep.

When questioned about the money the accused said: "I have spent it all. It mostly went on the dogs at Ramsgate."

The boy was remanded.

FOG AND ICEBERGS.

After groping her way in thick fog, through which every now and then icebergs loomed up, the Cunard liner Alaunia arrived yesterday at Plymouth from Canada two days late.

She left Montreal and Quebec with nearly 700 passengers, and should have reached Plymouth on Saturday. When in the Straits of Belle Island fog was encountered, and for four days speed had to be reduced. On one day only 94 miles could be covered, and at night no progress at all could be made owing to the danger from numerous icebergs in the vicinity.

One afternoon, when the fog lifted for a few minutes, the passengers saw that they were surrounded by huge icebergs, and for days after this the look-outs were doubled, and Captain E. Edkin remained on the bridge day and night while his ship crept slowly past the bergs.

"It was an awe inspiring sight," said a passenger yesterday to a Press Association reporter. "One huge iceberg, which must have been one hundred feet above water, slid past us little more than a hundred feet off."

Sequel to North Tyrone Scenes.

Many Defendants at Strabane Court.

TWENTY-SIX defendants appeared before the Strabane magistrates yesterday to answer charges relating to disturbances that took place during Eucharistic Congress week. Nineteen of the defendants were charged with unlawful assembly at Donemana, North Tyrone, on the night of June 27th, and with regard to these cases the Crown Solicitor, Mr. Simms, said that during the Congress week no one in Donemana was hurt and no property was damaged, except some bunting. He paid a tribute to the good work of the police and the good sense of the people of the district, who had co-operated in the prevention of any serious collision between people of opposite views.

The first case to be heard was against Joseph O'Kane, Ballyfadden, near Strabane, who was charged with disorderly behaviour calculated to lead to a breach of the peace, on June 25th. O'Kane, it was alleged, had demanded the removal of a Union Jack from a neighbour's house. He was bound over in the sum of £10 to be of good behaviour for twelve months.

An adjournment for six months was ordered in the case of a youth named John McPhilmey, Castlederg, who was also charged with disorderly conduct at Victoria Bridge cross-roads on June 29.

A question as to the jurisdiction of the Court was raised in charges of assault brought against Samuel Arbuckle, Rousky; William and Andrew Gamble, Tyrkernaghan; Robert Jeffrey, Rousky; J. McIntosh and Robert McIntosh. The alleged offences took place on June 28th, and Captain Fyffe, who appeared for the defendants, contended that the offences were committed within the Petty Sessions district of Donemana. The cases were dismissed without prejudice by the Strabane Court.

The nineteen defendants charged with unlawful assembly on the night of June 27th, all young men living in or around the village of Donemana, were: David Anderson, Samuel Arbuckle, Thomas Calwell, John Campbell, William Carmichael, George Duddy, James Ellis, Robert Gamble, William John Hall, Thomas Kennedy, Andrew F. Lindsay, Henry McCrossan, James McGarrigle, Robert McBrien, Thomas Nicholl, William Parkhill, Robert Pearson, Jeremiah Scott, and Henry Calwell.

It was stated by the prosecution that on the night in question there was a band parade in Donemana, and that everything was being carried on in an orderly manner until these men behaved in a provocative manner. Trouble subsequently arose, and extra police had to be rushed to the town to disperse the crowd.

All the defendants denied the charges, and said that they had no intention of interfering with the Congress celebrations.

The cases against Robert Gamble, Robert McBrien, David Anderson, and Samuel Arbuckle were dismissed; and the other defendants were bound over in various sums to keep the peace.

Customs Patrol's Border Raid.

Merchant's Stock of Eggs Seized.

While Mr. Alexander Magwood, an egg dealer, whose store is at the townland of Rellan, on the Fermanagh-Monaghan border, and within a mile of Rosslea, was attending to his business of purchasing eggs from his own customers, some members of the border patrol from Newtownbutler entered and seized all the eggs.

Later, a messenger was despatched to Newtownbutler for the Customs officer, who was soon on the scene, when the eggs were taken by lorry to Newtownbutler.

Approximately 4,000 eggs were seized, and these are held pending the decision of the Customs authorities. The duty on eggs varies with the price, but it is usually in the region of 2d. a dozen.

The border patrol, which is now actively engaged in checking efforts to bring goods over duty free, has a busy time owing to the number of non-approved routes frequently used.

Charged With Theft of Car.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Monday.

At a special court in Cork this afternoon, Timothy Curly, of Little Island, and John Hanley, Charlotte quay, were charged with having stolen a motor car the property of John Lane, Berring, from Patrick street, Cork, on Sunday night, and the larceny of petrol to the value of 2s. 6d. They were remanded on bail of £100 each, and two sureties of £50 each.

Monaghan Fair.

The most notable thing about Monaghan Fair yesterday was the number of spectators. Farmers came out in hundreds just to see how things would go on. Those who came for business were people wanting to convert stock into money or who had a class of beast they might lose more on by holding.

The fair was largely composed of springing cows and heifers. There was no fat stock and few stores. In all there would be about 150 head in this important fair, where the supply usually runs into thousands.

The Windjammer Race.

The Finnish three-masted barque, Favell, 1,334 tons gross, and the smallest competitor in the windjammers' race from Australia, is now anchored off Cork Harbour following a voyage of 120 days.

She sailed from Adelaide on April 4th with a cargo of 2,217 tons of wheat.

In Brief.

Price Rises.—At Thomastown pig market yesterday 46s. per cwt. was paid for fat pigs, an increase of 4s.

Ruling Prices.—The price of fresh unsalted butter in Thomastown is 6d. per lb., country salted butter 10d. per lb., creamery butter 1s. 2d. per lb.; chickens 3s. per pair; potatoes 9d. per stone.

A Low Tender.—County Kilkenny Mental Hospital Committee accepted a tender for the supply of attendants' uniforms at £1 16s. 10d. each—the lowest price on record. The material is to be of Kilkenny Woollen Mills manufacture.

BAN ON MODERN DANCES.

TEACHERS' COURT MOVE TO RESTRAIN BISHOP.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PARIS, Monday.

Modern dances are considered immoral by the Bishop of Quimper, who has forbidden the inhabitants of his diocese to dance. He does permit, however, the Polka, the Mazurka and country dances which already have received the sanction of the Church.

Orchestras are also enjoined by the Bishop not to play jazz tunes, and restaurant owners have been advised not to let out halls for dancing.

Dancing professors in the diocese brought a suit against the Bishop, and the Bishop's counsel suggested that the teachers might compromise by agreeing to teach only the Polka and the Mazurka, and, perhaps, the Valse, but the dancing masters have held out for the Tango and Fox-Trot.

The magistrate required time for reflection, and so judgment will be given later.

MR. DE VALERA'S MANDATE.

OPPOSITION T.D.'S CRITICISM.

A RUINOUS ECONOMIC WAR.

FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.

LONGFORD, Monday.

"IT is absolutely essential that those who are fond of their country and love it should not be afraid to give expression to their views on the conduct of the present Administration in running the country into a position such as that in which it is now," said General Sean MacEoin, T.D., at a Cumann na nGaedheal meeting in Longford to-day.

"Of course, I know that the Government's answer to all this is that they have got a mandate for what they are doing."

The President had said, he continued, that no sensible person could imagine that the removal of the oath and the retention of the annuities and other payments to England could be done without hardships, and, therefore, that the people who elected them knew that hardships would come.

That left it incumbent on his supporters to tell President de Valera that they gave him no mandate to engage in a prolonged and ruinous economic war. Of course, President de Valera might say that he did not wish it, but, at the same time, all his actions led up to it, and while, without doubt, the British Government acted precipitately, and without any real cause, in the action that they took the Irish people must realise that England was as independent as they are, and that if Ireland had the right to take action, she could not deny the right of another Government to take any action that they liked in their own interests, and that was the position now, a position described by Senator Farrell, of the Labour Party in the Dail, as being worse than the Black and Tan war, and it was likely to become worse.

COUNCILLORS' RESOLUTION.

Referring to a meeting of County Councillors in Longford, where a resolution was passed on Saturday approving of the action of the Government, General MacEoin said that the County Councillors were supposed to represent the farmers of the county. If they were satisfied with the way things were going, it left others with very little to say; but he did not for a moment say that they represented the views of the farmers of the county. (A Voice—"They do not.") In view of that, the farmers should tell the Government in no unmistakable voice what they thought of the situation.

"We, as the Opposition, have pointed out to the Government the dangers likely to arise, and they took no steps to prevent these things happening, but they seem to go farther than anyone could anticipate; even the wildest of us during the last election would not say that the state of affairs now existing could come about under a Fianna Fail Administration."

OPPOSED TO ARBITRATION.

He said that the Cumann na nGaedheal Government had had to deal with some situations during their ten years of office which were as serious as the present one, and they got no help from the Opposition, who, instead of criticising that Government face to face in the Dail, abused them at every cross-roads through the country.

Notwithstanding that, he stated, we are prepared to help the present Administration on condition that they adopt reasonable and right methods.

Personally, he added, I am opposed to arbitration, for the very definite reason that it could go against us, even in a good case, and you could get the rigour of the law instead of the equity of the law. I, therefore, oppose arbitration, and if my party pledge will allow it I will vote against it, because this Government and no other Government has the right to bind any future Government, and bind it definitely. The onus is on Fianna Fail to go into it and make their bargain, and to come home and tell the people about it, and not to be ashamed of it either. It is very poor sympathy for the people of this country when the President in College Green the other night stood up and called on them to pay their debts—their rents, rates and taxes—at a time when the market for the things that they had to sell is gone.

A Voice—He didn't say where the people are to get the money.

General MacEoin—I don't know where you are to get the money, but the order is on you to pay all these calls, and that is the situation that the Longford County Council, purporting to represent the farmers of the county, state that they are prepared to meet. That Council will soon get their walking-papers. (Laughter and applause.)

SERIOUSLY THREATENED.

Mr. M. P. Connolly, ex-T.D., said that the question for the country now was whether the Treaty was to be supported, and whether those who made the Treaty possible were to be supported, or were those who tried to make it impossible to be supported in their efforts to create a further impossible situation. The whole prosperity of the country was seriously threatened by the very people who forced a civil war to smash the Treaty, and who to-day were in power because of it, and were forcing an economic war on the unfortunate people of this country.

RUIN AND FAMINE.

A resolution was passed unanimously—"That this meeting deplores the action of the Government in carrying on an economic war with England, which can only result in ruin and famine for all classes in this country. It is our opinion that the Saorstat Government by pursuing its present suicidal policy of destroying our only market is deliberately putting an end to the farming, industrial and other interests of the country, and that the consequent unemployment will be lamentable. We also record our conviction that it is both incumbent on, and possible for, the Saorstat Government to end this deplorable state of affairs by direct negotiation, and that all patriotic Irish men and women should demand peace before it is too late, and before they and their families are reduced to beggary."

Mr. Owen Killemaide presided.

Cork Fire.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

CORK, Monday.

The residence of the late Mr. Conway, LL.D., Cork, was burned down this morning. The house, which was the centre one of three, was unoccupied, and the flames had got a firm hold when the outbreak was discovered. Civic Guards, aided by villagers, directed their efforts to prevent an extension of the outbreak to other houses, and in this they were successful after a couple of hours hard work.

LIVE ON 6/- A WEEK.

IF ONE EATS RIGHT KIND OF FOOD.

Addressing the International Federation of University Women at Edinburgh yesterday, Dr. Harriette Chick said it was possible in England at the present time to provide a perfect and attractive diet costing from 6s. to 8s. weekly per head in a family.

There had been, she said, a remarkable advance in scientific knowledge regarding nutrition and dietetics during the last fifteen years. Previously the quantitative aspect of food only was considered, but now it was realised that what mattered supremely was the "kind" of food.

"Women," she said, "have played a part in conceiving and directing researches which have revealed new knowledge. To a great extent they have been instrumental in carrying out a vast amount of experimental work with animals, which has established new theories.

"A knowledge of food values and of good dietary is the concern of all women," she declared.

Farmer's Death Mystery.

Neighbour Charged with Murder.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

NEWRY, Monday.

AT a special Court in Newry to-night, James Morgan, Faughil Otra, Jonesborough, County Armagh, was remanded in custody for eight days, charged with the wilful murder of John Finnegan, Drumantee.

At an inquest held by Mr. J. O'Donnell, J.P., Crossmaglen (deputising for the Coroner, Mr O'Connor), Patrick Finnegan, a brother of the deceased man, who, he said, was about fifty-six years of age, stated that about 10.30 on Sunday night Morgan came to him and shouted to come down to see Johnnie, who was nearly dead in a field, having slipped and fallen on a stone.

Witness went down and found his brother dead, in a sitting position, with his back to the hedge and his coat near a gate about twenty yards away. Sergeant Gallagher was in charge when witness arrived.

Sergeant Gallagher, Drumantee, stated that about 9.30 the accused man came to the barracks very excitedly and asked witness to hurry down to where Finnegan was, stating that they had had some words about a right-of-way, and that Finnegan took off his coat and followed him, and then fell and moaned.

Witness found Finnegan lying on his back, with the peak of his cap over his right eye, and his head was on a stone, sticking out of a fence, and the back of his cap was between his head and the stone.

Dr. H. J. Grant, of Newry, said that on a post-mortem examination a gutter-shaped fracture, about two and a half inches long, was found on the skull, and corresponding with the stone on which the head was found resting. The cause of death was fracture of the skull and shock and heart failure.

The jury returned a verdict accordingly.

Mr. J. H. Collins, M.P., who appeared for the accused man, said that on his instructions he was tendering no evidence at present.

The Coroner, jury and police joined in the expression of sympathy; a message being also received from Father Donnellan, Crossmaglen, who had been in the Drumantee district for a long time.

On being arrested by Detective-Inspector Parkinson, the accused man said:—"I am in no way responsible for the death of John Finnegan."

Foresters Meet at Newry.

Annual Convention of Northern Society.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

NEWRY, Monday.

THE seventh annual Convention of the Irish National Foresters (Northern Ireland) Benefit Society was held in the Minor Town Hall, Newry, to-day, with Bro. Daniel McAnaw, Strabane, president, in the chair.

In his opening address Mr McAnaw welcomed the various delegates to the historic town of Newry. He extended a cordial welcome to the representatives from Scotland, Bros. John McGovern, H.C.R., and James Boyle, general secretary. It was the first occasion, he said, upon which representatives from across the Channel had come among them, and he thought it would be a great thing if those visits were reciprocated. A great strain had been placed upon them by the prevalence of unemployment through trade depression, but there was another and much greater strain imposed upon them by the laxity of medical certification. If the Government could not get a cure for that, how could they?

Bro. James Loughrey, general secretary, Belfast, in his report, stated that only one new branch had been opened—the branch "John Martin," Glen, County Down—which meant that they now had forty-six branches. The membership, however, showed a slight decrease from that of the previous year, as did the accumulated funds and assets, which amounted to £44,822, as compared with £44,939 of the preceding year. A slight decrease also had taken place in medical benefits paid by branches, while all benefits paid by the society were:—Sickness, £17,101; funerals, £5,294; medical, £10,101; distress, £2,272—making a grand total of £34,768. He concluded by stating that there is yet ample scope for the society's work throughout Northern Ireland.

The reports were unanimously adopted.

On the motion of Branch John Mitchel, Newry, a proposal that a small committee be set up from the Annual Convention to report to the next Convention as to the revision of the existing General Rules, with a view to simplifying them, and bringing them up to date, was passed by 24 votes to 11.

The estimates for the coming year were passed unanimously.

OFFICE-BEARERS.

The election of office-bearers for the ensuing year was as follows:—High Chief Ranger—Brother Daniel McAnaw (Strabane), re-elected; High Sub-Chief Ranger—Brother Daniel Harvey (Derry), re-elected. E. C. Trustees—Brother James Macken (Belfast) and Brother James McAnuff (Newry), re-elected, and Brother James Smith (Ballyholland). E. C. Auditors—Brother Ed. Spence (Belfast), Brother John Hackett (Strabane).

DUBLIN DISTRICT COURT.

FAMILY SCUFFLE IN FRANCIS STREET.

(BEFORE MR. CUSSEN.)

Bridget Young (19), Mary Young (22), and Mary Young (53), all residents of Francis street, described as dealers, were charged with disorderly conduct, fighting and assaulting each other in Francis street on Saturday night.

Guard 84 A, who took the three women to the police station, said that the mother of the two younger defendants arrived and charged the elder Mary Young with having assaulted her so seriously that she had to be treated in the Meath Hospital.

Mary Anne Young, senior, said that she had not spoken to the husband of the complainant for the past eighteen months because both of them were "real good things."

Mary Young, the elder defendant, stated that John Young called at her place, and when she went out the rest of the Youngs, and particularly the two young girls in the dock, turned on her and beat her to unconsciousness.

Bridget Young told the Court that the parties were not fighting, they were only in handigrips.

Mr. Cussen, after hearing further evidence, said that Mary Anne Young, senior, had committed perjury, and he dismissed the charge she had made against the elder Mary Young. He bound Mary Young, senior, to the peace for six months. He fined Bridget Young 10s., or seven days' imprisonment, and he fined Mary Young, junior, 20s., or fourteen days.

WIFE'S COMPLAINT DISMISSED.

John Griffin, labourer, residing in East Arran street, was charged by his wife with striking her with a mallet on the side of the head at their home last Friday night.

Mrs. Griffin said that she had been married for thirty-eight years, and that this was the first time she had made a charge against her husband, although he was always giving trouble when he was under the influence of drink.

In reply to Mr. P. H. O'Brien, for the defendant, Mrs. Griffin said that her husband worked only on occasional days. Her son, too, was idle.

Mr. O'Brien—Why is he idle?—Because he is drawing the dole. (Laughter.)

Mr. O'Brien—Then he does not look for work?—Oh, indeed, the poor lad does, and he may get some on Friday next.

Mr. O'Brien—It will be an accident if he gets it.

The defendant stated that it was the son who struck the complainant with the mallet, which was aimed at him.

The charge was dismissed.

PARCELS MISSING FROM CAR.

John Byrne (26), no business, with an address in Bride street, and John Farrell (35), no business, living in South Richmond street, were charged with stealing from a motor car in Pembroke street articles of the value of £2 11s. 6d., belonging to Mrs. Margaret Farrell, Castlecomer, County Kilkenny.

Detective Officer McSweeny stated that when he arrested Byrne he said: "You are making a mistake this time." The other man said that he knew nothing about the matter. Later Byrne said: "I'll give you no more trouble. I'll tell you the truth." Byrne then made a statement admitting the theft, and said that Farrell was with him at the time. He said that they took the parcels, and, having opened them in a laneway, they threw the contents away because they were no use to them.

Byrne, in the witness box, said that the whole thing was due to drink, and neither of them remembered much about what happened when they were in Pembroke street.

The defendants were remanded on bail until to-morrow.

ASSAULT WITH KNUCKLE-DUSTER ALLEGED.

Patrick Kelly (22), no business, with an address in Upper Abbey street, was charged with assaulting John O'Neill, Benburb street, last Saturday night, and causing him injuries which required medical treatment in Jervis Street Hospital.

The Guard stated that the prisoner said that he acted only in self-defence.

John O'Neill, whose face was badly injured, said that he believed the defendant used a knuckleduster on him.

The defendant said that the only thing he had on his hand was a ring. O'Neill struck him first, and he (defendant) only acted in self-defence.

The case was remanded until Saturday next.

YOUNG GIRL CHARGED WITH THEFT.

Annie O'Shea (18), no business, with an address in Stafford street, was charged with stealing in Messrs. Arnott's premises, last Saturday, a lady's handbag containing £1 15s. 10d., belonging to Miss Annie Redmond, Avondale avenue.

Evidence was given by Policewoman Watters, who kept the accused girl under observation in the shop, and Guard 77 C told the Court that he found forty-three pawn tickets in the girl's room.

The defendant was remanded until Saturday.

MOSLEM RULE IN THE PUNJAB.

SIKH FEARS OF BRITISH INTENTIONS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

LAHORE, Monday.

Opposition to eventual Moslem rule in the Punjab is being organised on an extensive scale by the Sikhs, who fear that the coming settlement of the communal question by the British Government will result in such a development.

The Sikh leaders have formed a Council of Action, and they are proposing to enlist a lakh (100,000) of volunteers, who will pledge themselves to make whatever sacrifice may be necessary to oppose Moslem rule.

A deputation of influential Sikhs, including two delegates to the Round Table Conference—Sirdar Ujjal Singh and Sirdar Sampuran Singh—will, it is proposed, start on a tour on the 22nd inst., in the course of which they will explain the situation to the villagers, and exhort them to be prepared to take a strong line.

COMMUNAL RIOTING IN SOUTHERN INDIA.

MADRAS, Monday.

BEDOUIN OUTLAWS MASSACRED.

SWIFT ACTION BY KING OF THE HEDJAZ.

Full details of the great victory of the Wahabi King over the Bedouin outlaw chief, Ibn Rifada Al Awar (the one-eyed), at Gebel Shar, near Dibba, received by Reuter, show that the battle was swift and decisive.

It had been openly hinted for some time that Ibn Rifada was threatening the very foundations of the present régime in the Hedjaz, and was being supported by some mysterious influential power.

An expedition was sent against him on June 16th, and when it became evident that the rebels were making active preparations to move in the neighbourhood of Wadi Terim in an attempt to evade the punishment coming to them, immediate orders were given to launch an attack.

Accordingly on Friday last Hedjaz regular troops and levies left the camps at Dibra, where they had been concentrated, and proceeded to encircle the rebels. At noon on Saturday Ibn Rifada and his followers were completely surrounded and attacked from all sides. The battle lasted until sundown, when the tattered remnant of the outlaw's force took to flight, hotly pursued by King Ibn Saud's troops. Altogether the rebels had 370 killed, including the two sons of Ibn Rifada, Faleh and Hammad; his lieutenant, Sheikh Soliman Abu Togaigo, and five of the latter's brothers.

Ibn Rifada himself was captured and beheaded after the battle.

Among the rebels killed was one believed to have been a member of the Sherifian family. Very few casualties were sustained by King Ibn Saud's forces.

PRUSSIAN DICTATOR'S "LAST WARNING."

DRACONIAN MEASURES TO STAMP OUT TERRORISM.

ENFORCING THE POLITICAL TRUCE.

VON PAPEN PLANNING VOTE OF CONFIDENCE IN REICHSTAG.

"I WARN FOR THE LAST TIME. THE GOVERNMENT WILL NOT RECOIL FROM THE MOST DRACONIAN MEASURES IN ORDER TO FULFIL ITS DUTY TOWARDS PEACEFUL CITIZENS AND ENFORCE THE POLITICAL TRUCE WHICH THE COUNTRY NEEDS."

This stern warning from Dr. Bracht, to whom Chancellor von Papen delegated his dictatorial powers over Prussia, strikes an ominous note, coming on the crest of a wave of political savagery and hooliganism that broke after the declaration of the Reichstag election results.

That draconian measures are called for was exemplified at Koenigsberg yesterday, where groups, said to be Nazis, launched an onslaught against political opponents, in some cases proceeding into houses and firing at people sleeping in bed. One of their victims, a Communist leader, has since died of his wounds.

The Government hopes to secure a working majority in the new Reichstag by outlining a programme not too circumscribed by party considerations, according to very well-informed quarters in Berlin.

It is stated that, so soon as the election fever has passed away, the Cabinet will devote itself to devising a practical basis for the work of the new Reichstag on the lines of the Chancellor's manifesto on the day before the election.

Whether this means any action against the Communists is not known.

WIDESPREAD DISORDERS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

BERLIN, Monday.

ALTHOUGH Berlin presented a normal appearance to-day after the excitement of the election, the atmosphere is one of expectancy, and speculation is rife as to what sort of combination is likely to follow the party haggling that is bound to take place between now and August 30th, when under the Constitution the new Reichstag must be convoked.

It can be forecast that there will be no startling developments, though between now and the end of the month lively minds may blazon forth stories of restoration of the Monarchy and putsches by one or other of the reactionary parties.

Possibly as a precaution against such possibilities, but what is more likely to be impatience at the prevalence of street murder and terrorism, which he is determined to crush, Dr. Bracht gave Prussia his last warning to-day.

A political truce had been decreed for ten days following the election, and Dr. Bracht threatens to adopt ruthless measures to enforce it and to fulfil his duty to peaceful citizens.

POLICE ARMED.

The outrages at Koenigsberg are regarded as so serious that the police have been armed with carbines, but it is denied that a state of siege has been proclaimed.

The police to-day occupied a Communist newspaper building and confiscated pamphlets that announced that the Nazis were planning to murder all Communist leaders.

Further outbreaks occurred this afternoon. Shop windows were smashed in several places. Jewish shopkeepers have been threatened by anonymous letters.

Reinforced police are patrolling the streets in armoured cars, and already twenty arrests have been made in connection with the disorders.

At Hamburg police were stoned and shot at while endeavouring to disperse a crowd, and one policeman was injured. The policeman returned the fire, and killed one person and wounded four others.

BOMB OUTRAGES.

In Brunswick a fight between rival parties resulted in one Nazi dying from the wounds he received. A bomb was thrown at the residence of the Socialist Burgomaster, but did very little damage.

In various small towns in Schleswig-Holstein outrages also occurred, the procedure in each case being the same. Hand grenades were thrown at houses belonging to Communists or at houses frequented by Communists, but in no case was any serious damage done, and no one was injured. The aggressors, presumed to have been Nazis, escaped in motor cars.

Five Republicans and one Nazi were wounded at a fight between 120 Reichsbanner men and 100 Nazis at Schoenau, in Saxony.

Serious disorders are reported from Leipzig, where Nazis fought with Communists and Communists with Socialists. Numerous shots were fired, and one Communist was killed and others wounded. Police were rushed to the scene and arrested thirty persons.

REICHSTAG GROUPS.

Here is the German political situation in a nutshell:—

RIGHT WING.
Nazis	230
German Nationalists and other small groups	45
Total	275
MIDDLE GROUPS.
Centre (Catholic) Party	76
Bavarian People's Party, also Catholic	20
Economic Party	2
LEFT WING.
Social Democrats	133
State Party	4
Communists	89
Other small groups	8
Total	234

The House will comprise 607 seats.

On the one hand, the Right Wings are absolutely dependent on the Catholic Centre for a majority, and, on the other, seeing that Communist participation in any Government is out of the question, there is no possible Centre majority.

RHINELAND REACTION.

Generally speaking, the Reichstag election result has caused satisfaction and considerable relief in the Rhineland. Compared with the Prussian diet election figures, the Catholic Centre Party gained 40,100 and the Social Democrats 94,000, while the Nazis lost 12,013 in the Rhineland province. Many non-Catholics are believed to have voted with the Catholics in order to defeat the Nazis.

The remarkable increase of the Rhineland Communist vote from 623,300 in the Diet elections to 814,000 yesterday—in Cologne alone the increase was nearly 2,000—has been put down to the genuine distress in industrial centres, and consequently has not caused much surprise.

With the exception of minor disorders at Solingen and one or two other towns, no further political outbreaks have occurred in West Germany to-day. The Rhineland is perfectly quiet.

NAZIS THWARTED.

The Nazis were thwarted of hopes of adding Thuringia, which held State elections simultaneously with those for the Reichstag yesterday, to the list of Nazi-ruled provinces.

Though they take 26 seats, an increase of 20 over their strength in the last election in 1929, they failed by five to get an absolute majority, though with eight Right allies they could form a Coalition.

The following message was issued by Herr Hitler to the Nazi Party to-day:—

"A great victory has been won. The Nazi Party has now become by far the most powerful party in the Reichstag. This development, unique in the history of our people, is the proof of stupendous labour and unwavering perseverance. It is now the duty of all of us to continue the struggle with increased energy."

SOUTH AMERICAN FERMENT.

WAR BETWEEN BOLIVIA AND PARAGUAY.

War has virtually been declared by Paraguay on Bolivia in consequence of the capture of the Paraguayan fort at Bourqueron, according to a statement made in Buenos Aires yesterday by the Paraguayan Minister, Señor Rivalora.

The latest position is given in the following Reuter messages:—

ASUNCION (PARAGUAY), Monday.

The Government to-day recommended to Congress the general mobilisation of the country's armed forces. The Government has decided to concentrate ten thousand men for the defence of the capital.

Ten army classes are to be mobilised.

Indignation is expressed by the papers at the aerial bombardment of the area in the Chaco, inhabited by the Mennonites, who, they say, are a peaceful tribe.

ANTOFOGASTA (CHILE), Monday.

The mobilisation of the first line of Bolivian Reserves has been decreed.

The Bolivian standing army consists of 3,577 men, to which is added an annual contingent of conscripts, the total number of effectives being about 8,000. The forces include twelve infantry regiments, six cavalry regiments, three mountain artillery regiments and an aviation corps.

Paraguay's permanent army consists of 106 officers and 2,809 men; but in the event of war certain terms of service are compulsory. Between 8,000 and 10,000 men were under arms during the imbroglio with Bolivia in 1929.

MEDIATION OFFERED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

SANTIAGO DE CHILE, Monday.

The Argentine, Brazil and Chile are reported to have sent a joint Note to Bolivia and Paraguay calling on them to suspend hostilities and accept the friendly mediation of their neutral neighbours.

There may also be a proposal for the establishment of a provisional neutral zone in the disputed territory.

The Chilean Foreign Minister recalls that in 1914 combined intervention on the part of the three countries succeeded in preventing war between Mexico and the United States.

LEAGUE INTERVENTION.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

GENEVA, Monday.

Señor Matos, Guatemala, acting as President of the League of Nations Council, has sent the representatives of Bolivia and Paraguay in Paris letters asking them to beg their respective Governments to abstain from any act calculated to aggravate the situation between the two countries and lead to hostilities.

MR. MACDONALD'S RETURN.

Mr. Ramsay Macdonald is expected back in Downing street to-morrow, when, if the weather forecast is favourable, he will leave Lossiemouth by air. If the conditions are unsuitable, however, he will travel by train to-day.

Yesterday morning the Prime Minister was engaged on State business, and in the afternoon he entertained a few friends at Hillocks.

NEW AIR AND SEA PORT.

REPORT ON GALWAY SCHEME.

SPEEDIER MAIL DELIVERIES.

IN the course of an interview yesterday, Mr. Cecil Clendining gave an account of recent developments in the project for making Galway a trans-Atlantic seaport. Mr. Clendining is the chairman of the Irish Trans-Atlantic Corporation, a company formed to promote the scheme.

The full scheme, he pointed out, includes not only the provision of suitable docking accommodation for liners, but also the establishment of an airport, from which the mails could be quickly despatched to all the principal European centres. In connection with this a survey, made by Mr. Maxwell Ayrton, F.R.I.B.A., has been submitted to the Free State Government, the Canadian Government, and the British Air Ministry.

In his report, Mr. Ayrton states that he finally selected a plateau, situated one and a half miles from Furbough, where it is proposed to construct the new harbour. This site, he says, strikes him as being suitable for an international airport, though a good deal of preliminary work would be necessary to make the ground fit for the purpose. About half a mile westward there is another suitable site, which could be used if an extensoin of the scheme were thought necessary. He also considered the possibility of using the existing aerodrome at Oranmore, but this, although ideal for the purpose, is too far from the proposed harbour to be suitable.

AERODROME SITE.

Mr. Ayrton adds that on his return to Dublin he had a consultation with Sir John Purser Griffith, who thought that it might be possible to place the aerodrome almost alongside the docks. This site Mr. Ayrton had ruled out, on the grounds that the surface was covered with boulders, but Sir John pointed out that he had already planned to remove these and to use them in the construction of the breakwater, thus leaving the land comparatively level.

Before leaving Ireland Mr. Ayrton was received by Mr. Ingram, Chief of the Marine Department in the Ministry of Industry and Commerce. It is understood that the Department recognised that the site of the harbour should decide that of the aerodrome, and that the latter should be at the nearest point convenient to the harbour.

The report is accompanied by maps, including one drawn by Sir John Purser Griffith, and mention is made of valuable assistance received from Mr. W. N. Binns, B.E., Engineer of the Galway Harbour Commissioners, and from Mr. J. R. Reed, Inspector of the Irish Land Commission.

Commenting on the report of Mr. Ayrton, Mr. Clendining said that the establishment of an airport at Galway was essential for the success of their scheme, which would lead to a very important speeding up of traffic between Europe and America.

TIME-SAVING POSSIBILITIES.

Galway, he said, was only a little over three days by sea from Halifax, which they intended to make their principal American terminal, and the flying time between Halifax and New York was under five hours. Galway could be made an international airport for Europe, with services to Berlin, Moscow, Paris, Rome and other centres.

As an instance of the time that could be saved by this means in delivery of American mails, he pointed out that Dublin is only 55 minutes by air from Galway, London 3¼ hours, Rome 13 hours, and Moscow 18 hours. These figures, he said, were based on present-day flying times, but he understood that the British Air Ministry were shortly licensing a new type of mail-carrying aeroplanes which would be about 50 miles an hour faster than those now in use.

12 HOURS RAIL TO LONDON.

In addition to the proposed flying services from Galway, negotiations are already in hand to bring Galway within twelve hours' distance of London by rail. This would be necessary because of large parcels mail between Great Britain and the United States, which could not be entirely carried by air. The London, Midland and Scottish Railway has been approached, and it is of interest to note that Mr. Ashton Davies, who was deputed by the Board to deal with the question, has recently been appointed Chief Executive Officer of the railway company.

"It has been absolutely necessary," said Mr. Clendining, "to secure the goodwill of the Free State and Canadian Governments for our enterprise, as the territorial points in connection with it lie in Ireland and Canada. But it is the Governments of Great Britain and the United States who should take the main interest in the scheme, as it is between these two countries that the bulk of mail matter passes. Important offers of co-operation have already been received from the American side, and several large British concerns of world-wide repute have expressed their willingness to support the scheme.

"I should mention that we have had considerable help in the advancement of our plans from three well-known Irishmen, the late Senator P. J. Hooper, Sir J. Purser Griffith and Sir Thomas Myles."

CRASH AT AIR GALA.

MAN AND BOY KILLED.

Mr. H. K. Addy (21), of Balby road, Doncaster, Secretary of the Doncaster Aviation Company, and Mark Allinson (14) were killed late last night when an aeroplane in which they were travelling crashed at the aerodrome from a height of about 500 feet.

Mr. A. G. D. Alderson, of Thorne road, Doncaster, chairman of the company, who was piloting the machine, escaped with slight injuries.

Mr. Alderson is a pilot of considerable experience, having been an officer in the Royal Air Force during the War. He holds the rank of captain.

With him in the 'plane was Mark Allinson, aged 14, son of a miner, of Beech road, Armthorpe, Doncaster.

The 'plane was returning to the flying ground when, for some reason at present unknown, it crashed from a height of about five hundred feet and was completely wrecked. Addy was killed outright. The boy Allinson received severe injuries to head, face and legs, and died early this morning.

Mr. Alderson, who, as pilot, was sitting in the back seat of the biplane, escaped with comparatively light injuries.

The boy Allinson had had a ticket given to him for the last flight of the day by someone who decided not to go up.

The affair was a sad termination to a gala in which one of the most interesting features had been the departure during the afternoon from the aerodrome of the first honeymoon couple to travel by air from Doncaster.

The aviation company announced some time ago that they would fly, free of charge, to their destination anywhere in the United Kingdom the first newly-married couple who applied.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Sherwin, of Hexthorpe, Doncaster, accepted the offer.

They were married at St. Jude's Church, Doncaster, yesterday afternoon and set out in a gaily-decorated aeroplane for Scarborough, amid the cheers of a large holiday crowd.

SEVEN HUNDRED MEN IDLE.

RAIL STRIKE AT DUNDALK.

LOCOMOTIVE WORKS PICKETED.

SEQUEL TO COMPANY'S NOTICE TO MEN.

FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.

DUNDALK, Monday.

THE Great Northern Railway locomotive works at Dundalk, which normally employ almost seven hundred men, are idle to-day, following the refusal of the men to work.

The decision of the men is due to the notices issued last week by the Great Northern Company that, owing to the necessity for effecting economies, one-third of the staff would be laid off each week until further advised. This meant the disemployment for one week in every three of all the men in the works.

The men's unions protested against the notice, and asked for its withdrawal, pending a decision on the conference between Mr. de Valera and the men. Colonel Glover, locomotive superintendent at Dundalk, met the men's representatives at Dundalk last week in conference, and advised them that the company regretted they were unable to withdraw the notices, and that no indication could be given as to the length of the short-time working. On Saturday night a deputation from the men interviewed Mr. Frank Aiken, Minister for Defence.

In the ordinary way, one-third of the men had been notified that as from this morning they were not to work. This was discussed at a mass meeting of the men held last night in St. Patrick's Hall, when a resolution was unanimously passed deciding that all the men should refrain from work until the matter had been further considered by the directors.

SERVICES MAINTAINED.

In pursuance of that decision the men did not attend at work this morning. Pickets were posted near the works. Tradesmen at the garage and on the permanent way also did not start work. Engine drivers or 'bus drivers are not yet affected, and the normal service was maintained to-day.

The day being a Bank Holiday some of the higher railway officials at Dundalk were not on duty. A conference was held between the men's representatives and some of the officials, and it is understood that further negotiations will be arranged.

Locally, the belief is entertained that the stoppage of work will not be a lengthy one.

As a result of the strike Mr. C. D. Watters, Irish Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, cancelled a trip to London to attend a conference of Irish Railway Companies and Railway Unions. His place will be taken by Mr. C. T. Cramp, N.U.R.

IRISH OLYMPIC WINNERS.

R. M. N. Tisdall, the Irish 440 yards hurdles champion, won the Olympic 400 metres hurdles race at Los Angeles yesterday in 51 8-10 secs., the fastest time ever recorded in this event. Lord Burghley was fourth.

Dr. P. O'Callaghan retained his Olympic title when he won the hammer throw with 176 feet 11⅛ inches.

FROM "THE TIMES."

(BY SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT.)

THE GERMAN ELECTIONS.

In a leading article The Times to-day states:—The result of the German elections is in accordance with the expectations, and probably also with the hope, of the present German Government. No single party, no normal combination of parties has obtained a majority in the new Reichstag. The majority which supported Dr. Brüning has been destroyed, and no new combination has been created. Victory is being claimed by all, but goes to none who took part in the election. The only victor is the Government, which took no part in it. The result of the voting is a stalemate, which favours the Government by leaving its position undisturbed.

If the fate of the von Papen Government had been linked to any party in the State, it could hardly have hoped to survive; but it introduced a novel stratagem into constitutional government by refraining from staking its fortune upon the result of a parliamentary election which it had itself ordered to be held. The order, it is true, was instigated by the National Socialist Party of Herr Hitler, which hoped to gain a clear majority, and which has emerged by far the most numerous party in the State. It has more than twice as many seats as it won at the election of 1930, but it is, nevertheless, a disappointed party; for the votes cast for it show only a very slight increase on those which it had gained in the numerous State elections of the last two years.

There is no immediate likelihood of any startling development, adds The Times. The Government is, undoubtedly, monarchist in tendency, but it has probably no intention at present of attempting to make any drastic change in the form of the Constitution, and President Hindenburg, whom all the world knows for a man of his word, has taken the oath to the Republic. Moreover, the Government has quite enough on its hands without further inflaming the hostility of the definitely Republican parties. Apart from some modification of the parliamentary system, it will have to watch the economic situation with the utmost care, and bring what alleviaton it can to unemployment by its project of organising voluntary labour battalions. In foreign affairs it will attempt to make good its claim to equality of status with other nations in the matter of armaments, but more immediate than any reforms or than any project of home or foreign policy is the necessity to impose and maintain order.

The Government of Herr von Papen has wisely decreed a ten-day political truce, and for the moment it must renounce the rôle of the reformer and the diplomatist for the work of the policeman.

CHEAPER BUTTER

IN IRISH FREE STATE.

As from yesterday, in the Irish Free State, consumers may buy Irish creamery butter at 1s. 2½d. per lb. retail, and Free State creameries will receive a guaranteed price of 117s. per cwt. for their butter.

Meanwhile, the Dairy Disposals Company proposes to take over at 137s. per cwt. any creamery butter in cold stores on 31st July, and any other creamery butter in stock on that date, on premises registered under the Dairy Produce Act, 1924, provided it is offered to them on or before the 4th inst.

This arrangement will help to equalise the price of butter on the home and export markets, because it allows a margin at which Free State butter can be sold with advantage. It is pointed out that this offer is for first-class butter only.

DUBLIN HORSE SHOW.

ALL IN ORDER FOR TO-DAY.

"RECORD" IN SMOOTH WORKING.

AT the Royal Dublin Society's railway siding, and in the showyard at Ballsbridge, yesterday, there was great activity, but no confusion. As the horses arrived they were directed to their appropriate stalls without any hesitation, and when evening came the spacious halls presented the appearance of an immense national stable. "Never in the history of the Horse Show," said Mr. Bohane to an Irish Times representative yesterday, "have the arrangements worked more smoothly. A special staff of veterinary surgeons has been engaged all day inspecting horses for such exhibitors as desire to get that ordeal over before they face the judges. Apart from that, this arrangement is of great advantage to those who exhibit horses at Dublin more with a view to effecting a sale than winning a prize."

Notwithstanding all that has been said about the reduction in the numbers of hunters, and the lack of demand for them, farmers of a sporting turn still believe that horse-breeding has its compensations, despite the risks involved. To-day the public will have an opportunity of judging for itself whether the general quality of the exhibits at Ballsbridge has improved or declined. Views in this respect very often depend on one's requirements, but they are, nevertheless, interesting. Heavy, medium and light-weight hunters will, as usual, focus attention on the three main judging rings, while hunter brood mares, yearlings, two and three-year-olds, will be judged in the ring adjoining the veterinary paddock. In the jumping enclosure, thoroughbred stallions, yearlings, brood mares and foals will come before the judges.

ENGLISH HARNESS HORSES.

A report that some English harness horses would not be in evidence has not been confirmed, but Mr. Bohane stated that he had had no withdrawal of entries. It is possible, therefore, that all the harness classes will fill as arranged.

In the Pembroke Hall, visitors will find an exhibit of Irish manufactures, together with a selection of the prize works in the Society's National Art Competition, and also the prize essays on the school children's visit to the Spring Show. Music will be provided by the Saorstat Eireann (No. 1) Army Band and the St. Hilda's Band, in the Lawn Pavilion, which has been still further improved. The opening sale of thoroughbred yearlings will be held in the Bloodstock Paddock, and two jumping competitions will be held.

INTERNATIONAL JUMPING.

At least six teams were expected to take part in the various Army jumping competitions, and also in the international military jumping competition for the Aga Khan Challenge Trophy; but events over which the Royal Dublin Society had no control have resulted in the number of countries represented being reduced to three—viz., France, Belgium and the Irish Free State.

Invitations to participate in these popular competitions were sent by the Royal Dublin Society to the military authorities of seven countries outside the Irish Free State. Of these, France and Belgium alone will be represented, and, from past experience of their performances, the Irish Free State team may expect strong opposition.

Among the countries not represented by teams on this occasion, Great Britain pleaded "exigencies of training;" Switzerland and Germany, "the economic situation;" Sweden, "inability to provide a team;" and Italy, "Army manoeuvres."

The officers of the visiting teams are residing in a house which has been taken for the occasion by the Royal Dublin Society, and they will be treated to a round of entertainments during the week. Having once experienced the kindly hospitality thus provided, it is not surprising to learn that the visiting teams are always anxious to return.

Messrs. Battersby and Co., auctioneers, Dublin, have reserved a stand, number 79, adjoining the Main Hall, at the Horse Show, for the convenience of their country and cross-Channel clients. This is the first year that this firm has been able to secure a suitable stand at the Show.

OVERCOME BY GAS.

IRISH HOLIDAY-MAKERS' NARROW ESCAPE.

Three young Irish holiday-makers in Liverpool had remarkable escapes from death yesterday. They were found gassed in a bedroom of an apartment house in Benson street. They are Christopher Dowd, aged 28; Jack Hannagan, aged 22; and Stephen Thompson, aged 22, all of Dublin. They were conveyed to the Royal Infirmary, but were being discharged last evening.

The young men arrived from Dublin on Sunday, and retired to bed early yesterday, leaving a gas burner alight in the bedroom. The light burned out at about 7.30 yesterday. A woman in the house, on rising to prepare breakfast, found the gas supply exhausted. Accordingly she placed several coppers in the meter. As the men did not come down for breakfast two hours later investigation was made, and the room was found to be full of gas. All the men were unconscious. Dowd and Thompson were in bed, and Hannagan was huddled up on the floor. Hannagan, who was sleeping directly under the gas bracket, had apparently felt unwell and had got out of bed and collapsed.

The three men were carried into the back yard for artificial respiration, and then were removed to the Royal Infirmary, where they recovered consciousness.

UNVEILING OF SOMME MEMORIAL.

EMPIRE'S TRIBUTE TO 73,000 WAR HEROES POSTED AS MISSING.

SACRIFICES OF 36TH ULSTER DIVISION RECALLED.

THE PRINCE OF WALES has come and gone from Thiépval, and from the summit of the monument the British and French flags are flying in the wind, a symbol of the collaboration of France and Great Britain continuing after the War in peace.

The monument commemorates over 73,000 British and Irish dead, and there appears, engraved in huge letters 140 feet up, the inscription: "Aux Armées Franco-Britanniques l'Empire Britannique Reconnaissant," which was the spirit of yesterday afternoon's ceremony.

It was not British, but Franco-British. The French President was beside the Prince of Wales; the French Generals beside the British military; the British military band played "The Marseillaise," and the French military band "God Save the King"; the British Army chaplain said the prayers in English, and the Bishop of Amiens in Latin.

Up the steps of the monument were two hedgerows of flags—on the right those of the British Legion, and on the left those of the French Ex-Service Men's Association. The crowd of ten thousand was almost equally divided between the two nations.

The atmosphere—partly religious, partly military—was, above all, intensely human.

SUNSHINE AFTER RAIN

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

THIEPVAL, Monday.

THE most striking effect was produced by the elements. At the outset the sky was threatening, clouds were sweeping fast in the wind. The Prince and the President arrived in a sharp shower. Gradually the clouds scattered, and at the culminating moment—when the Prince of Wales unveiled the monument—the sun burst out in full strength, illuminating the arch designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens.

The Prince of Wales, as the host, received the President, and together—the Prince in the khaki uniform of a Colonel of the Grenadier Guards and President Lebrun in morning dress—walked to the stands between lines of Spahis, on Arab horses, piebald and black, and French infantry in horizon blue. The crowd cheered as the Prince of Wales proceeded with the President on his right and the French Premier (M. Herriot) on his left. Next to the President was Lord Tyrrell, the British Ambassadór, and beyond him French Cabinet Ministers.

A HEAVY COST.

Addressing President Lebrun, the Prince of Wales said:—

"I cannot approach the subject which has gathered us together to-day without expressing to you, and through you to the people of France, our profound sympathy in the loss of him whom we all hoped three months ago to see here, and our horror at the abominable crime which deprived France of his leadership and his services."

It was fitting, he went on, that the crowning stone of the work of the Imperial War Graves Commission should be laid in France; it was fitting that this, the last of their memorials should bear a tribute to the armies of France as well as to our own; and it was most fitting that, in the shadow of this memorial to our own missing of the Somme, soldiers of France and the British Empire should lie side by side, to remind all men, to-day and in the years to come, of our joint losses in the Great War, our common sacrifice of two and a half million of our finest manhood.

For on no other Allies did the cost of victory fall so heavily; and it was on French soil that the largest number of our soldiers fell, and in the kindly land of France have been given a resting place.

Our first thoughts to-day should be with the relatives of those whose death has purchased our present freedom.

THE BOND OF EMPIRE.

Never before in history have nations shown so tender and tenacious a determination as France and the British Empire to honour the memory of every one of their dead soldiers. We have shown this not merely by spoken words, which so often take flight and are forgotten, but by giving material expression to that determination as enduring as human hands and human art can make it.

"I have with me to-day representatives of those sister nations which form the British Empire; in the same generous spirit in which they fought side by side, they have joined together, in free partnership, in this duty. It is the first and, I often think, an invaluable example of the way in which free nations under a common Crown may co-operate for a common object."

In France, in Belgium, in Italy, and wherever else throughout the world our armies fought, the names of our dead are individually recorded on the headstones marking their graves, on memorials to the missing such as this, and in the volumes of the printed registers—more than one million names, at least ninety per cent. of them those of men who before August, 1914, were civilians, strange to arms.

These myriads of names, carved in stone and printed on almost endless pages, must form no mere book of the dead, if, in the words which in honest faith we have cut deep and clear, they are to "live for evermore." They must be the opening chapter in a new book of life—the foundation and guide to a better civilisation, from which war, with all the horrors which our generation has added to it, shall be banished, and in which national bitterness and hate, selfishness and greed, shall flee abashed before the spirits of the dead.

ONLY SURE HAPPINESS.

These names, and the names of the even greater host of the dead of France; the names of the dead of other nations who fought with us and those who fought against us—all these, so long as we remember them, shall testify against the past, and shall call us to a better civilisation, in which it will be at last realised that the only sure happiness for each individual nation is to be found in the peace and prosperity of the whole world.

The first chapter in the new book will, we believe, tell of the growth of a neighbourly spirit among the nations as a development and extension of the friendships formed in the war. That must be its basis, for among nations, as among men, no new friendships are worth their salt which are formed at the cost of old and tried friendships.

"Let us advance to new conquests," said the Prince in conclusion, "to the conquest of the world's peace and international amity. In our joint effort such a victory may be won; alone, neither of us can achieve it. Let that be the message which through these memorials we pass on from our dead to the generations to come.

"That was the message which the King, standing in one of our cemeteries in France ten years ago, gave to the world when he said: 'I have many times asked myself whether there can be more potent advocates of peace upon earth, through the years to come, than this massed multitude of silent witnesses to the desolation of war. And I feel that, so long as we have faith in God's purposes, we cannot but believe that the existence of these visible memorials will, eventually, serve to draw all peoples together in sanity and self-control, even as it has already set the relations between our Empire and our allies on the deep-rooted bases of a common heroism and a common agony.'"

ASHES SCATTERED.

M. Lebrun declared that Great Britain and France were as united as they were on the battlefield. It was the duty of all men of good-will to outlaw war for ever. France was deeply grateful to the British nation for linking the two countries in the glory of this monument.

After the laying of wreaths on the Stone of Remembrance the Prince of Wales and the President descended to the terrace on the east side overlooking the valley of the Ancre.

Just below is a little cemetery, in which French are buried on one side and British on the other.

As the Prince of Wales and President Lebrun stood on the terrace a British and a French officer placed wreaths beneath the cross in the centre of the cemetery, saluted and stood at attention, while ashes from 20,000 crosses were scattered over the French and British graves.

MASS EXECUTION OF COMMUNISTS.

SEQUEL TO SACKING OF PERUVIAN CITY.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

LIMA, Monday.

Forty-four men who took part in the Communist rising in the city of Trujillo (Northern Peru) last month, were executed on Wednesday, following a courtmartial, according to a Government announcement just made here.

Some four hundred civilians attacked and routed the small forces of artillery and police responsible for keeping order in Trujillo on July 8th last. Communications were cut off and the city isolated by the rebels.

Crazed by liquor and goaded to fury by the harangues of agitators, the mob rode roughshod over the town, pillaging, burning and lynching.

Twenty-four hours elapsed before the Government troops, making a combined attack by land, sea and air, succeeded in recapturing the city after one of the biggest battles in Peruvian history.

UNEMPLOYED CONFERENCE AT OTTAWA.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

OTTAWA, Monday.

Some 700 unemployed from all parts of Canada assembled here to-day for the National Conference of Unemployed Councils.

Resolutions passed included a request for a workers' non-contributory unemployment insurance bill, a seven-hour five-day week at full union wages, the repeal of all tariffs and taxes enhancing the prices of the necessities of life, the cessation of the "police terror" in India, the release of the 55,000 Indian political prisoners and self-determination for India; and, last, the exemption of all "poor farmers" from taxes and debt and rent payments, with an adequate emergency relief at the expense of the rich.

The resolutions will probably be presented to the Prime Minister, Mr. Bennett, to-morrow.

SHOWER OF RINGS AND GEMS.

SERIOUS EXPLOSION IN NEW YORK.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

NEW YORK, Monday.

A terrific explosion in a basement paint shop in Park avenue to-day rocked the skycraper Hotel Ritz Towers and smashed scores of windows in the vicinity.

At least four men were killed and twenty injured by the explosion, which occurred during a fire in the basement.

Rescue parties worked feverishly for many hours trying to extricate a number of employés who were trapped underground, while priests and doctors ministered to the injured.

With the explosion a dense cloud of smoke shot up fifty feet into the air, and diamond rings and othr jewels worth a small fortune were scattered over the ground from a jeweller's shop, of which the windows had been wrecked.

SENATE AND FINANCIAL DISPUTE.

PRESIDENT MAY SPEAK IN TO-MORROW'S DEBATE.

MANUFACTURES' CONTROL BILL.

QUESTION OF ISSUE OF LICENCES.

BY OUR POLITICAL CORRESPONDENT.

THE motion standing in the name of Senator Counihan will probably be discussed in the Senate to-morrow, after the conclusion of the report and final stages of the Control of Manufactures Bill. This motion, it will be remembered, deals with the dispute between the Free State Government and the Government of Great Britain with regard to the land annuities and other financial matters. It expresses the view that a satisfactory settlement can best be obtained by direct negotiations between duly accredited representatives of the Governments concerned, and urges the Free State Government to re-open direct negotiations with a view to such settlement.

It is thought that President de Valera will take the occasion to inform the Senate as to the views of the Government on the present position regarding the dispute.

Both the Dail and Senate will meet to-morrow. In the case of the Dail the sitting will be a special one; for the House officially stands adjourned till the 19th October. This meeting is necessary in order to receive back from the Senate certain bills which have been amended, or in regard to which recommendations have been made by the Senate. The bills concerned are the Housing Bill and the Finance Bill. There are also supplementary estimates in respect of agriculture and public health.

The estimate in regard to agriculture is believed to be concerned with the butter subsidy. There will also be introduced an additional estimate in connection with a new service called the Emergency Fund. This, it is thought, is intended to finance the new Emergency Imposition of Duties Act.

ANOTHER SPECIAL SITTING.

It seems likely that the Dail will again have to be specially summoned—probably next week—to deal with other amendments, especially to the Control of Manufactures Bill.

In the Committee stage of the bill in the Senate last week several important amendments were made, and others will be proposed on the report stage, which is fixed for to-morrow.

For this stage fourteen amendments are on the Order Paper, most of them in the names of Senator Douglas and Senator Staines.

In connection with Section 1, Senator Douglas will move a new sub-section as follows:—

DEFINITION OF A RESIDENT.

"(3) A person shall be deemed for the purposes of this Act to be resident in Saorstat Eireann if he has spent the greater portion of each year in Saorstat Eireann, or if he is resident outside Saorstat Eireann in the employment of a person or corporate body carrying on business in Saorstat Eireann, or if he is resident outside Saorstat Eireann in the service of the State."

In Section 2 the same Senator will move a new sub-section to the following effect:

"(a) where the shares of a body corporate are registered in the name of a bank carrying on business in Saorstat Eireann, such shares shall be deemed to be in the beneficial ownership of a national of Saorstat Eireann;

"(b) where shares in a body corporate which is a public company are transferred to a person who is not a national of Saorstat Eireann, and as the result of such transfer the issued shares of such body corporate cease to be to an extent exceeding one-half thereof in the beneficial ownership of nationals of Saorstat Eireann, such body corporate shall nevertheless be entitled to continue its business without holding a new manufacturer's licence for a period of six months, or such longer period as may be specified by the Minister in writing."

Also a new sub-section as follows:—

"(5) Where a body corporate is charged with having committed an offence under this section, it shall be sufficient for such body corporate to prove that it has received statements in writing from the requisite number of its shareholders that they are nationals of Saorstat Eireann within the meaning of this Act, and no such body corporate shall be held responsible for any inaccurate information supplied by its shareholders."

MINISTER'S DISCRETION AS TO LICENCES.

Section 5 (1) has already been amended in committee by the deletion of the words "in his absolute discretion," and the insertion in lieu thereof of the words "in accordance with provisions contained in regulations made under this Act." If the amendment offered by Senator Staines on the report stage is carried, Section 5 (1) will read as follows:—

"5—(1) Whenever an application is made to the Minister under this Act for a new manufacture licence the Minister shall refer such application to the Tariff Commission for a report on the desirability or otherwise of granting such new manufacture licence; and the powers, functions and duties of such Commission, as defined in the Tariff Commission Act, 1926 (No. 40 of 1926), in regard thereto shall be the same as if such application were an application of the kind contemplated in Section 2 of the said Act, except in so far as such powers, functions or duties may be modified or adapted by regulations made under this Act. On the receipt and after consideration of such report the Minister may, in accordance with provisions contained in regulations made under this Act, either—

(a) grant to the applicant a new manufacture licence to do all the things specified in such application; or

(b) grant to the applicant a new manufacture licence to do some or one only of the things specified in such application; or

(c) refuse to grant such licence."

Mr. Sean MacEntee, Minister for Finance, is making a good recovery after his recent illness. He is at present recuperating in the West of Ireland, and it is unlikely that he will be present at to-morrow's meeting of the Dail.

COLLISION IN CLYDE.

BECALMED YACHT SUNK.

FOUR young Glasgow yachtsmen—Mr. James K. W. Dunn, his brother and two friends—becalmed in the Firth of Clyde, off Largs, in the early hours of Sunday, had remarkable escapes from drowning when their yacht, Orwain, was involved in a collision with the Glasgow-bound steamer Lairdsglen.

The Lairdsglen, carrying 700 returning holiday-makers from Ireland, was steaming up the Firth a short distance behind another vessel of the same line, the smoke from which hung in a thick cloud over the water, partially obscuring the outlook from the Lairdsglen.

Through the smoke pall the Orwain was suddenly seen almost directly under the starboard bow of the Lairdsglen. Nothing could be done to avert a collision. The yacht was struck a glancing blow near the bow and badly holed.

Awakened by the shock of the impact, the yachtsmen, who had fortunately been sleeping fully clothed, scrambled on deck. They saw at once that their craft would not keep afloat for more than a matter of minutes, and with remarkable coolness and presence of mind they hurriedly transferred as many of their belongings as they could to the dinghy, leaving only odd garments which they had not time to collect.

Even the yacht's compass was salved in the two minutes which elapsed before they cast off the dinghy, just as the Orwain sank beneath the surface.

A boat was speedily lowered, and the yachtsmen, shaken, but unharmed, by their experience, were transferred to the steamer.

CANADA'S GRAIN CROPS.

CUTTING ALREADY BEGUN.

Warmth, interspersed with scattered showers, brought grains along rapidly in the three Prairie Provinces, according to the weekly crop report of the Canadian National Railways, as summarised in a cable to the London office of that company.

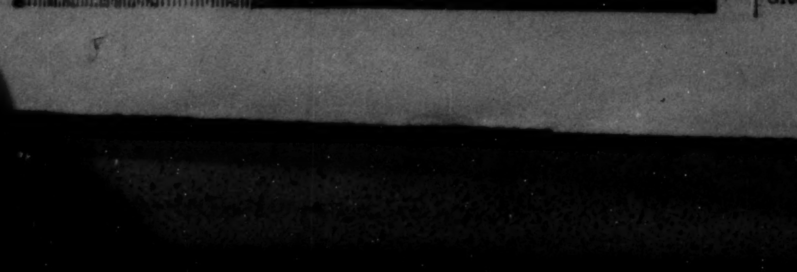
Cutting has already commenced in scattered areas, and if present conditions are maintained the whirr of binder and combines will be general from the first days of August. Damage from hail, wind, drought and soil drifting has affected a very small percentage of the Western grain area.

Manitoba is well advanced, grain maturing rapidly, with the result that there has been cutting in some districts. The wheat is heavy, but in the southerly part of the province stands of oats and barley have been damaged by grasshoppers. The winter hay supply is ample.

Southern Saskatchewan reports wheat ripening fast, but some sections require more moisture. Rye cutting at Wallmar gives an average yield of fifteen bushels. Central and Northern Saskatchewan conditions remains promising, but in some northern districts abundant moisture may cause some damage.

Alberto shows favourable indications of heavier yields than during the past few years.

Cattle and hog receipts at Western stockyards are considerably heavier, and steady prices prevail.



FORCED TO DESCEND.

AFTER AN HOUR IN THE AIR.

ENDURANCE TEST SET-BACK.

WITHIN an hour of setting out on her great adventure to remain in the air for a month, the Hon. Mrs. Victor Bruce was obliged to descend because of water getting into the high tension generator of her three-engined Amphibian, The City of Portsmouth.

FAVOURABLE START.

Mrs. Victor Bruce, with her two co-pilots, her husband and Mr. J. B. W. Pugh, set out on her attempt to beat the world's air endurance record at 2 p.m. yesterday, when her great 'plane rose up from Solent water, near Cowes.

The conditions appeared favourable, with the clouds fairly high and the sea moderately calm.

The 'plane was towed out from the hangar at Cowes past the shipping to a clear strip of water. The engines then roared into life, and gracefully the machine taxied over the water until it rose slowly into the air.

It went in an easterly direction, and it was the intention of the pilots to re-fuel almost immediately.

The City of Portsmouth took off with the tanks only lightly filled, as it was considered advisable that petrol and oil should be taken on when the machine was in the air.

MRS. BRUCE'S HOPES.

Before saying good-bye to friends, Mrs. Bruce talked with the newspaper men.

"This is going to be a flying holiday in a flying bungalow," she said. "It will be an ordeal, but we are just not going to let the strain get us down.

"If we beat the British record of 50 hours' non-stop flying we shall have accomplished something, but what we are really out to smash is the 553 hours 41 minutes world's re-fuelling in the air endurance record, now held by the Hunter Brothers, of America.

"We hope the experience of re-fuelling in the air which we gain will bring the day nearer when Atlantic routes will be regularly operated. The filling up of machines with fuel after they have taken off with a light load is regarded by experts as the solution of ocean air travel.

"Three hundred gallons of petrol can be taken on board in four minutes. We shall take on 80 gallons only each time, because that is a convenient quantity.

FLYING BUTLERS.

"Five machines will be used morning and evening. Two will ascend and fly in formation on either side of our 'plane. These two 'flying butlers' will bring food and milk for the day, and newspapers and mail, and they will also take the empties.

"For the refuelling two machines—one with petrol and the other acting as pilot—will leave the ground in formation and tied together by a piece of string.

"I shall stand in a special cockpit. When the string is over our fuselage, catch the string and cut it. The long feeding pipe of the refuelling machine attached to the string will be hauled down and fitted to our own tanks.

"This will be done from four to five times a day. It is a tricky and dangerous business, especially in bumpy weather.

"Our two headquarters will be Portsmouth, where I think we shall cruise for the first week, and Hanworth, where wireless communication will be maintained the whole time.

DRESSING FOR DINNER.

"We shall live just an ordinary life—except that one person will always have to be at the controls. That will be done in four hour shifts.

"We shall change as often as possible for dinner and bath every morning. The men will shave, and I hope to wear beach pyjamas most of the day-time if it is hot.

"The interior of the machine is as nearly like a small home as possible. I have had a special spring mattress made, on which it will be possible to stretch oneself for sleep. There are a dining and sitting-room, a bathroom, and even a larder.

"If our friends wish to wire us—congratulations, I hope—they must use our special telegraphic address registered with the Post Office: 'Upaloft, Feltham.'

"The three 120 h.p. engines are placed above the wings. It is possible for the bungalow to fly with full load on any two of the power units.

"It will be a hazardous job climbing out on the wings to do repairs if an engine gives us trouble, but we have a good safety belt with which we can strap ourselves to the struts.

"Most of our flying will be at 6,000 to 8,000 feet above the ground, and every night we shall go well above the clouds in order to lessen the danger of a bump with the ground or water."

HIGH HOPES DASHED.

AMPHIBIAN RETURNS TO THE WATER.

The high hopes of all concerned in the adventure were dashed an hour after the start, when the City of Portsmouth was forced to descend.

The ground staff of Mrs. Bruce's camp were mystified when they were unable to get into wireless communication with the Amphibian, and some anxiety was felt after the machine had been in the air about an hour.

Then came news of a message which was dropped from the 'plane on to the aerodrome at Portsmouth, and was picked up by Flight-Sergeant Sparkes.

The message read:—"Water got in high tension generator, and has caused short circuit. No wireless telegraph; no lights. Too much weight at present, so have to land to get this rectified. We are sinking at 1,950 revolutions per minute."

The builders of the Amphibian were communicated with, and when the machine alighted on the water speed boats rushed to her to take off the pilots.

CAUSE OF THE TROUBLE.

"I am so disappointed," said Mrs. Bruce to a Press reporter. "The first trouble was the swell on the water. It was so bad that when we were taxi-ing to take-off we shipped at least twenty gallons. We were all drenched, but that did not matter.

"It was when we found that our wireless connection was cut off and our lights were ruined by the water percolating into the high-tension generator that we decided it was useless to go on.

"Then we found, too, that we had not the right kind of propellers. We were carrying about 115 gallons of petrol, and we were unable to rise properly.

"At one time we thought of throwing all sorts of things overboard. It is quite apparent that we shall have to get rid of many gadgets on the machine, and reduce the weight to a minimum."

WILL TRY AGAIN.

Other propellers are to be fitted this morning, and, after they have been tested, another start will be made on the endurance record.

Mrs. Bruce says she may start this evening or early to-morrow morning.

FOUR KILLED ON MONT BLANC.

FROM "THE TIMES" CORRESPONDENT.

MILAN, Monday.

Six roped climbers were returning to Courmayeur after a successful ascent of the "Giant's Tooth," on Mont Blanc, when the rear member of the party slipped and fell, pulling three of his companions with him to their death on a glacier 1,000 feet below.

The two others were saved by twisting the rope round a climber's nail in the rock.

TWO IRISH TRIUMPHS.

TISDALL AND O'CALLAGHAN WIN AT LOS ANGELES.

LOS ANGELES, Monday.

TO-DAY'S programme in the Olympic Stadium promised to be one of the most thrilling of the whole Olympiad. The 400 metres hurdles and the 100 metres finals were down for decision, as well as the throwing the hammer.

The half-mile was to be narrowed down to the final heat, which will be decided to-morrow, and the heats of the 3,000 metres steeplechase were held.

The tit-bit of the day was the hurdles final, in which there were one Englishman, one Irishman, two Americans, and one each from Sweden and Italy.

Of the Americans, Morgan Taylor is one of the veterans of the Olympics. He won the 400 metres hurdles at Paris in 1924, was third to Lord Burghley and Cuhel at Amsterdam, and is the holder of the world's record of 52 secs.

The unofficial points before to-day's events started were:—

United States, 50; Germany, 25; France, 23; Italy, 12; Finland, 11; Poland and Canada, 10; Austria, 9; Denmark, 5; Czechoslovakia, Philippines and Japan, 4; New Zealand, 3; Argentina and Sweden, 1.

Great Britain has not had a chance to score a point yet, as she has not been represented in any of the events yet decided.

The wrestling contests began this morning with the first round of the catch-as-catch-can bantam weights. The wrestling results are decided either on falls or the referee's decision. If the winner is victorious by a fall he loses no points and the loser three, but if he wins only on a decision he loses one point and the loser three. Anyone losing five points is eliminated.

Robert Tisdall, the old Cambridge Blue, scored a great triumph for Ireland at the Olympic Games here to-day, when he won the 400 metres hurdles title, which Lord Burghley, the British captain, won at Amsterdam in 1928. Lord Burghley finished only fourth in to-day's race. Glenn Hardin, of the United States, was second, and F. Morgan Taylor (United States), who finished second to Lord Burghley at Amsterdam, third. Tisdall's time of 51 8-10th secs. beats the world's record of 52 secs. held by Morgan Taylor, and also the Olympic record of 53 4-10ths set up by Lord Burghley.

Neither record will be allowed to stand, however, as Tisdall knocked down the last hurdle, and the honour of breaking the Olympic record falls to Glenn Hardin, who finished a yard behind Tisdall in 52 secs. dead.

Although Tisdall led from the start it was difficult to see owing to the echelon formation the exact position of the other runners. As they approached the final flight of hurdles it was anybody's race, but Tisdall gamely held on to his lead despite knocking down the last hurdle, and won a most thrilling race by a yard. Morgan Taylor was only two feet away third, with Burghley about a foot behind fourth.

The large crowd of 50,000 cheered the Irish victory lustily.

Percy Williams, the Canadian sprinter, who brought off a remarkable double at Amsterdam by winning both the sprints, to-day lost his 100 metres Olympic title by failing to qualify in the semi-finals. He finished fourth to Eddie Tolan (U.S.A.), Dan Joubert, the South African, and R. Yoshioka (Japan). Another Empire runner, A. J. Elliott, finished fifth, and was thus also eliminated.

Dr. O'Callaghan won the hammer throw with 176ft. 11½ins.

THUNDERSTORM IN BRITAIN.

GOLFERS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

DAMAGE by lightning during thunderstorms was reported from various parts of Great Britain yesterday.

At East Budleigh, Devon, a flash of lightning temporarily crippled Miss Ivy Pat, daughter of the Budleigh Salterton stationmaster, and threw a passing cyclist from his machine. He was uninjured.

The Dagenham Fire Brigade was called to haystacks struck by lightning on the farm of Mr. T. Wheele, near Hainault Forest.

The firmen dammed up the road with turf draining the rain water into a ditch, and from this they pumped water on to the stacks. They extinguished the flames after two and a half hours.

Part of a chimney stack fell and damage was caused to a fireplace and a skylight of a schoolroom which was struck by lightening at the Wesleyan Central Hall, East street, Barking.

At Windsor hundreds of holiday-makers on the river and in the grounds of Windsor Castle received a soaking, the rain being of almost tropical force.

Nearly ten thousand people passed through the State apartments at Windsor Castle during the day.

Boxing was interrupted at the football ground at Southend-on-Sea when the thunderstorm broke.

Torrents of rain flooded the track at Brooklands, and the stewards met to consider the fate of races still on the programme, but the sun came out again, and, although there were pools of water on the concrete, it was decided to hold the other races.

One man was killed and two others were injured during the storm at Twickenham.

Mr. G. Smith, of Grove road, Twickenham, aged 64, was sheltering under trees on the local green waiting for the resumption of a cricket match when a flash of lightning struck his umbrella and he was killed instantly.

The injured men, who were also sheltering on the green, were Mr. James Kelly, aged 72, of Twining avnue, Twickenham, and Mr. Dennison, aged 63, of Park Cottages, The Mount, Hanworth. After treatment they were taken to their homes.

A school was struck at Hayes, Middlesex, and houses at Dalston and Plaistow.

FLOODS IN LONDON.

A house was set on fire at Stepney, London.

In London floods were caused over a wide area, streets were turned into rivers, and basements and cellars were flooded. Several women fainted during the storm, and two women were treated at St. Nicholas's Hospital, Plumstead, from shock.

Several houses were struck by lightning at Ilford, and roads in the lower part of the district were flooded.

GOLF COURSE SCENE.

FIVE PERSONS HIT BY LIGHTNING.

Whilst playing golf at Aldeburgh, Suffolk, yesterday three golfers and two caddies were struck by lightning. Others were considerably shaken.

Those who were struck were the Hon. Andrew Vanneck, of Henningham Hall, Suffolk, brother of Lord Huntingfield; Major Marriott, a London visitor, and Captain B. I. M. Barrett, a retired Army officer, of Aldeburgh, and Percy William Cook and Stanley White, two local caddies.

All five were conveyed to Aldeburgh Cottage Hospital, suffering from extensive burns on various parts of their bodies.

Captain Barrett had his tongue burned. Major Marriott was the least hurt, and was able to proceed home after attention. The caddie, Cook, was also allowed to go home in the evening, but is confined to bed. The other three are detained in hospital.

A CIRCULAR FLASH.

Mr R. E. Greensmith, a brother-in-law of Captain Barrett, stated that when between the fourth and seventh greens a storm broke up, and many golfers rushed to a near by shelter made of rushes and covered with galvanised wire on the roof.

The lightning appeared to strike this, he said, and it knocked down four of the persons standing outside the shelter.

An Aldeburgh caddie, William Green, said that when he rushed to the assistance of the golfers after seeing a cloud of smoke Captain Barrett's hat was badly torn, while Cook's shoes were almost ripped off his feet.

White's hat was torn and the back of his hair scorched.

VERY ECONOMIC CONFERENCE.

SIDELIGHTS ON OTTAWA.

DUBLIN DELEGATES INSPECT FARMS.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

OTTAWA, Monday.

"THIS is a very economic conference," was the rueful remark of the page-boy to-day at the Chateau-Laurier Hotel, where most of the delegates to the Conference are staying. It seems that, owing to the hotel having been handed over to the Conference, he misses the succession of small tips to which he is accustomed in normal times.

With the exception of Mr. Baldwin and Lord Hailsham, who stayed in Ottawa, the British Ministers attending the Conference are spending a long week-end in the country on fishing excursions and other sports, and will not return until late to-night.

The Irish Free State, South African and Southern Rhodesian Ministers to-day made a tour of five of the largest farms in Peel and York Counties, near Toronto, for the purpose of acquainting themselves with the problems of the Canadian farmer. The trip was made under the guidance of the Ontario Minister of Agriculture, who explained that each of the farms visited specialised in one form of farming.

Mr. Baldwin to-day paid a visit to Mr. Mackenzie King, the former Canadian Premier.

ANXIOUS TO WORK.

These long breaks in the Conference programme are regarded with some concern by the other delegates, who are anxious to get on with the work.

The present break has, however, been of advantage to the experts, who have been completing their reports to the Dominions Committees on Butter and Meat, and the report on fruit will be ready by the time the Conference resumes to-morrow.

Wednesday is regarded as the day when the Conference will be reaching big decisions, and when it will be possible to make rapid progress; but another long week-end break has been arranged, starting on Thursday night, to enable a number of delegates to accompany the Governor General for the opening of the Welland Canal.

CHANGE OF PROCEDURE.

It is hoped, however, that work will be sufficiently advanced by that time to enable the advisers to prepare a way for discussions on the broad principle of Empire trade after the return of the delegates from their trip.

It has now been arranged that instead of the Dominions' reports being handed to the British delegation for discussion, they will be submitted to a Committee dealing with the promotion of trade within the Commonwealth.

In the absence of the British Ministers this week-end, no comment has yet been forthcoming on the statement by Mr. Havenga, the South African Finance Minister, concerning the balance of trade between the United Kingdom and the Dominions.

In a message from Ottawa yesterday The Times Special Correspondent says:—The bilateral conversations between the United Kingdom and all other parts of the Empire represented, except the Irish Free State, are expected to make marked progress during the next day or two. These conversations concern United Kingdom exports to the Dominions, and when that section of the picture is complete the time will have arrived when decisions must be taken, and there is a strong belief among members of the British delegation that that phase of the Conference is fast approaching. So much work will then have to be done at high pressure that nobody begrudges the delegates the few hours of leisure which they have been able to snatch during the week-end.

DRUG TRAFFIC IN ALEXANDRIA.

SIXTY-THREE PERSONS ARRESTED.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

ALEXANDRIA (Undated).

Two days of anxious watching at the bedside of a dying man in the hope that he would be able to gasp out a statement to officers of the Central Narcotics Investigation Bureau was the prelude to the arrest of 63 persons on drug trafficking charges. The man was known as "Charlie," who was serving a five years' sentence for the part he played in the attempt to smuggle hashish into Alexandria, in H.M.S. Calypso, last October. His wife was an Englishwoman from Manchester, and "Charlie," himself, lived in Manchester for 19 years.

This is how he came to be connected with the latest drug arrests. As a result of a letter from a gang of drug-traffickers in Beyrut, which came into the hands of the Central Narcotics Investigation Bureau, it was thought that Charlie, who was even then in prison, might be able to make a statement which would assist the officers.

DYING MAN'S STATEMENT.

Both Charlie and his wife agreed to give all possible assistance. Charlie was quickly taken from the prison hospital, so that his two English children should not have a father who died in prison. But he was only removed just in time. Already he could hardly speak.

For two days and nights officers watched by his bedside, while at intervals Charlie struggled to collect his breath and make coherent statements, but his strength failed him. All he could do was to beg two friends to complete his statement for him. These two men had been the chief witnesses for the prosecution in the recent trial in which Naefi, the "King of Drug Smugglers," was sent to prison.

The two men completed Charlie's statement—and as a result officers were able to arrest 63 persons on charges of drug trafficking in Alexandria and Syria. Three of the arrested men are British subjects; one of whom joined the Royal Navy in 1914, and was twice torpedoed. Charlie's wife has now gone home to England with her two children.

TWO OMNIBUSES COLLIDE.

ACCIDENT IN COUNTY WICKLOW.

Two motor omnibuses, one owned by the I.O.C. and the other by the De Luxe Company were involved in an accident which took place between Blessington and Poulaphouca last night. The two 'buses were filled with people, but beyond a few people who were slightly cut by falling glass none was injured. The driver's cabin in the I.O.C. 'bus was badly damaged.

GENERAL MA STILL ALIVE.

FROM REUTER'S CORRESPONDENT.

PEKING, Tuesday.

Chinese officials here deny the Japanese report that General Ma Chan-Shan, the Chinese commander, who has for months past opposed the new régime in Manchuria, had been killed in a battle between his troops and a Japanese force east of Hailun, on the bank of the Sungari River. The report is described as "Japanese propaganda."

Mrs. Lawlor, Nas na Riog Hotel, Naas, is carrying out the catering at the following places at the Horse Show:—Lawn Upper Luncheon Rooms, Anglesea Stand Balcony, General Enclosure (Teas and Bar), Sales Paddock, General Lunch and Bar (East Hall).

BANK HOLIDAY ACCIDENTS.

MANY INJURED ON THE ROADS.

SIR PATRICK GOWER A VICTIM.

NUMEROUS road accidents are reported from various parts of Great Britain. Among those who were injured yesterday was Sir Patrick Gower, who has been chief publicity officer at the Conservative Central Office in London since 1929.

Sir Patrick was one of four persons who were seriously injured yesterday at Fernhurst, near Haslemere, Surrey.

The other persons injured were:—Mrs. Jenner, of Stanhope Gardens, South Kensington; Mrs. Gilmore, of Clarges street, London; and Mr. Portham, of Park Mansions, Knightsbridge. All were travelling in a car which was involved in a collision with an omnibus at a bend on the main London to Midhurst road. They were taken to Haslemere Hospital.

The car was wrecked.

Late last night it was stated that the condition of Sir Patrick Gower did not give rise to anxiety. He had a thigh dislocated, which had been re-set. Mrs Jenner is in a critical condition. Mrs. Gilmore is seriously injured, but is reported to be progressing favourably.

Mr. Portham's condition is stated to be satisfactory.

Sir Patrick Gower, who is forty-five, has the distinction of having been private secretary to successive Prime Ministers—Mr. Bonar Law, Mr. Ramsay Macdonald, and Mr. Baldwin, from 1922-28. He entered the Civil Service twenty-two years ago, and transferred to the Treasury. He was assistant private secretary to Mr. Bonar Law when he was Chancellor of the Exchequer, 1917-18, and later private secretary to Sir Austen Chamberlain when Chancellor of the Exchequer and Lord Privy Seal.

Since 1929 Sir Patrick has been chief publicity officer at the Conservative Central Office.

TOURING CAR OVERTURNS.

Eight persons were injured, two of them seriously, when an open touring car overturned on Babbacombe Beach Hill, Torquay, yesterday. The car skidded down the steep gradient until it reached a dangerous corner, where it overturned, throwing the occupants into the road. A picture postcard seller, William Vary, of Torquay, was hit by the car as it overturned.

Vary was detained at Torbay Hospital with internal injuries. Ivor Hatto, of Davis road, Acton Vale, London, one of those in the car, was detained in hospital with a fractured jaw. The other occupants of the car, all of whom were from London, received treatment for minor injuries.

Nine people received treatment for cuts and abrasions following a collision between two omnibuses in Newport road, Cardiff, yesterday. Peter Evans, fourteen months, of Greystoke, was thrown from one of the vehicles into the road, but escaped with cuts on the head. The side of one of the 'buses was torn out.

A car driven by Mr. A. Nightingale, of Beaver road, Dubsbury, Dorset, skidded and collided with a tram standard in Cardiff yesterday. Mrs. Molyneux, of Millington, near Altringham, one of the passengers, was injured and taken to hospital.

MOTOR CYCLIST KILLED.

Alexander Basham (26), a printer, crashed while riding a motor cycle at Horsforth, near Leeds, yesterday, and died shortly after admission to Leeds General Infirmary.

Three passengers in a Redditch (Worcestershire) char-a-banc, which was in collision with a motor car at Langstone, near Newport, Monmouthshire, yesterday, were cut by flying glass. They were Miss Nora Whitehead, Mrs. Alice Harber and Mrs. Thornton, all of Redditch.

Three men were injured last night when two motor coaches and a private car were in collision on the new Southend road at Rainham, Essex.

FIRE FOLLOWS COLLISION.

When two cars collided at the corner of Brondesbury Park and Sidmouth road, Willesden Green, last night, they both overturned, and one of them caught fire.

Three women who were in one of the motors, and a man and a woman who were in the other, escaped, however, with shock and bruises, and after treatment at Willesden General Hospital were able to go home.

Clifford Hilliard, of the Royal Engineers, Chatham, received a fracture of the base of the skull when, in swerving to avoid pedestrians in Leeds last night, his motor cycle struck a Mrs. Lackovitch, who was slightly injured. Hilliard was detained at the Leeds Infirmary in a very serious condition.

FRIGHT FOR HOLIDAY-MAKERS.

While on a trip near New Romney, Kent, early yesterday, a car driven by Mr. N. Jackson, of Norwood road, Herne Hill, London, skidded after rounding a bend, knocked a telegraph pole down and plunged down a fifteen foot bank into Romney Marsh sewer, which is six feet deep. The seven occupants were unhurt.

Mr. Jackson, who is staying at Littlestone Holiday Camp, stated that as soon as they touched the water they made a wild scramble, swam to the bank and got out. "I am the only one with a scratch, and that is on my chin," said Mr. Jackson. "We are exceedingly fortunate, for no one was about at the time, and we might have been trapped in the car. It was a terrifying experience, and it has upset our holiday."

Telephone communication between Dychurch and Folkstone was considerably disorganised owing to the lines being down.

Numbers of holiday-makers helped in the recovery of the car, which was completely submerged.

General Inference.—A wedge of high pressure off West Ireland is moving quickly eastward, followed by a trough of low pressure on the Atlantic. Rain will fall in the North and West, but in the South-East weather will be fair for at least most of the day.

Ireland, all Districts.—Moderate or fresh south-west wind; perhaps strong locally; dull; some rain; moderate temperature.

Irish Sea and St. George's Channel.—Wind backing south-west and becoming fresh or strong; cloudy; rain later; visibility good to moderate; sea slight, becoming rather rough.

BOY INJURED BY SHELL EXPLOSION.

LOSS OF SIGHT FEARED.

Kenneth Maitland Thomson, aged fourteen, of Addiscombe, Croydon, was seriously injured when playing with a shell at Camber, near Rye, Sussex, yesterday. It is feared that he will lose the sight of both eyes.

The boy, who was on holiday at Camber with his parents, took the shell to the house on Sunday evening.

Yesterday morning his father, Mr. R. Thomson, was at breakfast when there was an explosion, and the cap of the shell crashed through the window.

The boy, who was badly burned about the face, was taken to two local hospitals, but owing to the seriousness of his condition was later transferred to Moorfields Hospital, London.

Miss Sykes, aged seventeen, a neighbour, who was standing several yards away at the time of the explosion, was badly burned about the legs.

The shell is believed to have been one from the Lydd Tank Corps' range.

HELPERS FOR LOURDES' PILGRIMS.

The Irish Society of Our Lady of Lourdes Brancardiers and Handmaids held its monthly meeting at 30 South Anne street, Dublin, on July 28th. The number of helpers who volunteered to give assistance at Lourdes during the coming months was as follows:—Handmaids (August), 7; (September), 10. Brancardiers (August), 6; (September), 6.

A special feature of the Society's work is voluntary assistance to the invalid pilgrims on their journey through Dublin to the boat at Dun Laoghaire. The railway companies have kindly offered every facility to the helpers in this work.

Directors of pilgrimages are invited to avail themselves of the assistance of the Society in this respect.

A FISHING HOLIDAY.

The photograph of the Kylemore Castle fishing party setting out from their hotel, published on Saturday last, was taken at the Leenane Hotel, Co. Galway.

STOPS INDIGESTION WHERE IT STARTS.

It's a fine thing to get up from a hearty meal knowing that the food which you have enjoyed will be easily digested, without pain or any stomach suffering. Yet it's the easiest thing in the world to avoid indigestion or, if you are a habitual sufferer, to stop it and put the stomach into perfect health. Just a little 'Bisurated' Magnesia in water, or two or three tablets taken after eating, instantly neutralises the excess acids which cause the trouble, prevents fermentation, and soothes, heals and strengthens the inflamed stomach lining. 'Bisurated' Magnesia, which is sold by all chemists, is the remedy which is recommended by doctors, used in hospitals, and by thousands of one-time sufferers who have proved again and again that it is a certain reliever of all acid-caused digestive troubles.

GOSSIP FROM THE COURSE.

CHINA KING WINS.

VERSICLE LANDS THE ODDS IN THE HOLIDAY PLATE.

FROM OUR TRAVELLING CORRESPONDENT.

SANDOWN PARK, Monday Night.

ALTHOUGH a terrific storm burst over London this afternoon, there was very little rain here—nothing more than light showers, which caused no great inconvenience. The going was wonderfully good, and I have never before seen this course looking so fresh on August Bank Holiday. The attendance was quite good, and the holiday-makers had all the best of it; for no fewer than five out of the seven favourites were successful.

There was great cheering when China King won the Great Southern Handicap; for, after his disqualification after finishing first in the Liverpool Cup, it was apparent that at the weights here he was the good thing of the week. These good things are not always so accommodating, but after 11 to 8 had been taken about him, China King beat the top weight, Beneficial, by two lengths, with Galdennis a length and a half away, third, and Miss Mole fourth.

A ONE-SIDED RACE.

It was a very one-sided race; for after Strapping and Great Lad had dropped back, Graves brought China King in the straight, and nothing ever troubled him, although Beneficial, who had not run since one of the spring meetings at Newmarket, put up a good show.

Then another good thing, Lord Stanley's Versicle, a daughter of the exported Sickle and Verdict, duly won the Holiday T.Y.O. Plate. There were some rumours that she had been amiss, but this did not prevent a shade of odds being laid on her. She settled down last, but at the distance she had improved well, and then she won cleverly by a neck and a length and a half from the promising Papyrus colt, Caymanas, and Sea Treasure.

Lord Stanley has this good filly, who is easily the best of the produce of Verdict, on lease from Lady Barbara Smith, to whom the late Lord Coventry bequeathed her dam. Entreat, a half-sister to Dilly Dally, finished close up fourth.

CLOSE FINISHES.

There were close finishes for the first two races. In the Lammas Stakes the favourite, Blue Mount, whom Walter Nightingall trains, had a long set-to with Melee, and kept in front all the way to win by a head, while a neck was the margin by which the favourite, Prargent, was beaten by Plaster of Paris in the Selling High-Weight Handicap.

Mr. Persse's stable had a winner when Merciless, in the colours of the American owner, Mr. W. A. Chanler, took the Maiden T.-Y.-O. Plate. Although Carslake did not get to the front on the French-bred colt until the last furlong he was always having the better of it, and he won by a length and a half from Startler.

It was by a head that Mrs. Sneyd's Flechier beat Lord Londonderry's Romneya in the Lubbock Spring Handicap. Here most people differed from the judge, and from the stands it looked as if Romneya had taken the lead some distance out, and won comfortably.

In the seventh race of the afternoon the Maharajah of Rajpipla's Lone Dollar was made favourite, but he was caught and beaten two lengths by Blockade, whom Mr. Douglas Pennant trains.

SELECTIONS.

A three-day meeting begins to-morrow at Brighton, where the Brighton Stakes is the best event. There will be only a small field, and it may be won by the better of Fred. Butters' pair, either CHORIST or AIR POCKET.

POLAR BEAR, who was third in the Stewards' Cup, should win the Marine Handicap, though Straniero would be a danger if he gave his best running.

The Downs Maiden Plate may be won by ALL-A'-FIRE.

At Birmingham the August Handicap may be won by ROYAL ATHLONE, the Midland Plate by ADRIATIC, and the Packington Plate by TRUSTEE.

YELLOW DUN should win the Ripon City Handicap at Ripon, and BAYONET may win the Newby Plate.

GALTEE MORE.

BRIGHTON STAKES.

LARKING FANCIED IN A FIELD OF GOOD STAYERS.

THE Sussex fortnight is continued at Brighton to-day. The Brighton Stakes is the big attraction, and one of the most fancied runners will be Larking, who is to be ridden by J. Dines. He ran very well at Lingfield last month when finishing third to Flange and Priodonte, and is improving. F. S. Butters is represented by Chorist and Air Pocket, and both have done well in long-distance events. Chorist finished a very good third to Rockliffe and Sans Espoir at Goodwood, and the latter enhanced the form when he won at Ripon yesterday. Air Pocket has not run for a month or two, but my Newmarket correspondent informs me that he is going in his best style in his gallops. Careful Sailor has contracted a 7lb. penalty as a result of his victory at Hurst Park, and, perhaps, he has been given a little too much to do. Witch Doctor II. and Coster Boy can each be given a chance, but will be my bet.

Followers of the "horses for courses" theory will want to be on Manto for the Marine Plate. His only victory last year was gained here, and he ran well in the Southover Handicap at the last Brighton meeting. On that occasion, after leading for a good part of the way, he fell back beaten. He will not get such good galloping conditions to-day, but to compensate this the race is a furlong shorter. I do not think, however, he is good enough to beat who is also a winner on the course. On his forward running in the Goodwood Stewards' Cup he appears well handicapped, and has my vote.

ANN

will be my bet in the Channel Selling Plate. She promises to do well in this class, and should be followed.

Peter Planet, who is a runner in the Downs Maiden Plate, ran in the Derby, but I shall be surprised if he finishes in front of who may be the best bet of the day.

PLUTOCRAT

will have En Garde and Invermark to beat in the Henfield Selling Handicap, while as far as the Alfriston Plate is concerned I shall rely on

LURE.

Big fields are expected at the concluding stage of the Birmingham meeting, when the August Handicap should provide an interesting contest. Massai, Lemonition, Roebuck and Pictoralas are likely to find market support, but I give a confident vote to

ROYAL ATHLONE.

PHŒNIX PARK'S T.Y.O. TEST.

As will be gathered from the appended list, a big field of two-year-olds will contest the richly endowed Phœnix Plate, which will be run at the Phœnix Park meeting next Saturday. The following are the CARGAN BEST TWO-YEAR-OLD?

SMASHING VICTORY AT BALDOYLE : ROSEMARY'S PET WINS IN GREAT STYLE.

THE holiday meeting at Baldoyle was, as usual, the big attraction for racegoers, and, with many foreign and cross-Channel visitors for the Horse Show helping to swell the crowd, there was a very satisfactory attendance. While the weather was much cooler than on Saturday at Leopardstown the conditions generally were more favourable, and the meeting proved a most enjoyable one.

Chief interest, of course, centred in the big two years old race, but the inclusion of a steeplechase on the programme was a much-appreciated item, and as a spectacle was easily the best race of the afternoon.

CARGAN'S CONVINCING WIN.

The Baldoyle Foal Plate, if the running can be accepted as accurate, and there is no reason why it should not be treated as such, may have settled the problem which has been bothering racing folk—namely, the question as to the best two-year-old of the season. Sir Thomas Dixon's colt, Cargan, who had to carry 9st. 10lb. and was conceding weight to all his opponents, scored a remarkably easy victory from Corrymeela and Smart Aleck, with the favourite, Sojourner, a good fourth. No excuses could be offered for the running of any of the candidates, but one that might be expected to improve on her form here is Glass Tor, who, running for the first time, was prominent for a long way, but ran a bit green. By Torlonia out of All Glass, she is a half-sister to Glass Boss and Glass Gift, two horses who have already achieved considerable distinction on the racecourse, and, like these two, she was bred by her owner, Colonel Clarke.

It is likely that Cargan will be saddled again for the valuable Phœnix Plate at the Phœnix Park meeting next Saturday, where he will be meeting Smart Aleck on only one pound worse terms.

GRAND ECART STILL A MAIDEN.

Grand Ecart, who last season ran well in the best of company without, however, gaining a winning bracket, was backed with considerable confidence to win the August Plate. He ran well for about seven furlongs, but never held out any hopes of beating Lotus Leaves, who, making light of his 7lb. penalty for winning at Dundalk, was in front from start to finish. Knight of the Mist again flattered but to deceive, and all the efforts of Joe Canty to make him give of his best were of no avail when it came to the critical point.

Lord Talbot de Malahide's colours were carried to the fore in the Juvenile Selling Plate by Moira, but it was only after a particularly brilliant riding effort on the part of T. Burns that the daughter of Monnaie deprived Magnanimous of the spoils. Outwork, who was recently purchased for ten pounds by Mr. Fred Clarke, was prominent all the way, and finished third, only a length behind Magnanimous. This filly was naturally one of the outsiders of the field, her price with the bookmakers being 50 to 1, while some lucky backers on the Totalisator received dividends of twenty-six shillings for their place bets.

CASTLE IRWELL'S NARROW WIN.

It was a pleasant change from the series of flat races to have our attention turned to steeplechasing, and, with the good field of ten runners facing the starter for the Stewards' Steeplechase, there was the material for a very interesting race. In a splendidly contested finish the favourite, Castle Irwell, just got home a neck in front of Cultrumer. Gomar, who started second favourite, ran in most disappointing fashion, while the South of Ireland trained Woolly also gave a moderate display. Castle Irwell is a four years old, and gives promise of turning out a useful steeplechaser, as he has a nice turn of speed and jumps well.

Grecian Vase proved the best of the moderate lot in opposition for the Corinthian Plate, and, being in front for most of the way, easily held off the late challenge of Astrahan.

A striking performance was that of Rosemary's Pet, the winner of the Howth Plate. Carrying the heavy burden for a three-year-old of 10st. 4lb., he simply made hacks of his six opponents, who included the useful Vici, this being his fourth success off the reel.

SPORTING GOSSIP.

April the Fifth in Physic.

Mr. Tom Walls states that his horse, April the Fifth, who hit himself below the knee in a gallop some time ago, is in physic. "I shall not know," he said, "for a few days yet whether the treatment is successful. I can only say that he is making good progress, and I hope to have him fit for the St. Leger."

Jockey Injured.

H Jelliss, the jockey, sustained cuts about the face when his mount, Skylla, slipped up while running in the Aston Selling Plate at Birmingham yesterday. He was able to walk back to the weighing room, where his injuries received treatment. He was to have ridden Sybil Green in the following race, the Burton Maiden Plate, but the horse was withdrawn by permission of the Stewards.

Mishap to Two-Year-Old.

Collier's Gorse, reputed to be one of the best two-year-olds in P. Behan's stable at the Curragh, has met with a mishap, and has been sent to his owner's place.

NEWMARKET HINTS.

In the Channel Selling Plate at Brighton

will represent us. He has done well since he ran at the First July fixture, and should at least gain a place.

PARTH'S LOVE

missed her Alexandra Park engagement in view of the Downs Maiden Plate, and will be difficult to beat.

AIR POCKET (next best) was hard worked during the early spring, but his trainer, Fred Butters, has now got him at his best again, and he should be supported each way for the Brighton Stakes.

STRANEIRO*

ran prominently in the Singleton Handicap at Goodwood, and his chance for the Marine Plate is an excellent one.

LURE

should beat Marechel Neil, Neddons, and Deyncourt, and win the Alfriston Plate.

At Ripon my fancies are:—2.0—Old Mona; 2.30—California; 3.0—Miss Neat; 3.30—Craig Park; 4.0—Orepesa; 4.25—Bayonet.

Horses will leave by special train for Birmingham, and it is difficult to state accurately what will run. The following should win:—2.0—Bribe; 2.30—Conway; 3.0—Fougasse; 3.30—Royal Athlone; 4.0—Defanotis; 4.25—Fireaway.

FINALS AT THE CURRAGH.

SUCCESSFUL DAY FOR A. HAMILTON.

The finals of the Co. Kildare Championships, which were held over from Saturday owing to bad weather, were played off at the Curragh yesterday. A. Hamilton and M. H. Toppin, who were in play in the men's open doubles semi-final at 13 games all against A. Odlum and T. H. Dunlop, quickly won the next two games for the set, and took the second set comfortably, the losers never finding their form of Saturday. In the final Hamilton and Toppin won in straight sets from Dr. Hogan and R. N. Craig. Dr. Hogan's placing of overhead shots was very clever, and Craig was steady off the ground, but the Dublin players were just a little too severe for them. Hamilton and Miss H. Wallis had little difficulty in disposing of Dunlop and Miss G. Carty in the mixed final.

In the men's singles final there was a remarkable finish. Toppin, playing well, won the first set, and led 5-3 in the second set, but then went to pieces, and Hamilton, gaining confidence, only lost three more games in winning the match.

CRICKET

BOWLERS AGAIN BEST.

IRELAND IN STRONG POSITION AGAINST M.C.C.

IRELAND, having left off in a favourable position at the close of Saturday's play, followed up the advantage yesterday in their match with M.C.C. in the College Park, and are 298 runs ahead, with one wicket to fall.

BOUCHER'S CHEAP WICKETS.

The heavy rain of Sunday night and yesterday morning had so saturated the pitch that the start was delayed an hour. As on Saturday, the wicket again played in a tricky fashion, and the visitors, who had made 49 for four wickets in reply to the Irish total of 166, fared badly from the outset, and in an hour and ten minutes their remaining six wickets fell for an additional 30 runs.

G. N. Foster, who had scored 25, added only two when he was caught by McVeagh at cover-point, and the innings closed for 79, having been in progress altogether two hours and twenty minutes. J. C. Boucher had the splendid analysis of six wickets for 25, and five of them were secured yesterday for 14 runs. He bowled a good length and completely hung up the batsmen. T. H. Dixon had three wickets for 20.

BARNES AND DOUGLAS AGAIN.

Holding the useful lead of 87 runs, the Irishmen in their second innings made none too good a start, and in one and a half hours had lost half their wickets for 68 runs.

E. A. Ingram and D. R. Pigot, the opening batsmen, put on 29 against the attack of H. Garland-Wells and P. M. R. Scott before Pigot was out, held by Howell, for 19. E. D. R. Shearer, J. C. Boucher and T. G. McVeagh gave little trouble, and Ingram when 27 was l.b.w. to Garland-Wells, his well-played contribution including three 4's.

The Northerners, R. J. Barnes and A. C. Douglas, improved matters, and, later, F. J. Reddy and T. H. Dixon hit out in brisk fashion. Barnes again got top score with 48, and in partnership with Douglas added 42 for the sixth wicket, while with Dixon as partner 47 were put on for the seventh wicket. Barnes was batting an hour for his runs and hit eight boundaries; but Douglas, who got 25, was a trifle lucky. Dixon made amends for a failure in the first innings by making 36 in an hour, and Reddy is still unbeaten with 30 to his credit.

Garland-Wells, who was so successful in Ireland's first innings, has bowled unchanged in the second, and so far he has sent down 32 overs, 10 of which were maidens, and has taken seven wickets for 81 runs.

Play will be resumed this morning at 11.30.

DUNNE BOWLS WELL FOR CLONTARF.

Clontarf had their annual match with Armagh at Castle avenue yesterday, but were beaten by 29 runs. The wicket was very slow, and runs hard to get. Armagh batted first, and put up 52 for three wickets, when T. Dunne went on as a change bowler and had great success, the visitors being all out after two hours and a quarter. Dunne took six wickets for eleven runs. Clontarf lost three wickets for nine runs, and after Tyndall and Stuart had put on 54 for the fourth, the others gave little trouble. Score:—

LEINSTER RECOVER.

ULSTER NEARLY BEATEN AT LURGAN.

Play was resumed in Lurgan Park yesterday in the Junior Interprovincial match, before a moderate crowd. The wicket, used on Saturday, appeared to be badly cut up, and both sides agreed to play on a new pitch.

The Leinster batting showed a great improvement on that of the first innings, and their arrears of 81 were soon wiped off. The Ulster total of 144 was passed with eight wickets in hand, but when Carson came on he took three wickets in four overs. Eventually Leinster were all out for 225, and Ulster were set 146 to get to win.

Allison, Worrell and Montgomery puzzled the Ulster batsmen, and, backed up by the sharpness of the fielding, seven men were out for 42 in seventy-five minutes. Ulster, however, played out time and the match ended in a draw. Score:—

GREAT ALL-ROUND PLAY BY TATE IN SUSSEX VICTORY.

The brilliant all-round play of Tate was the feature of yesterday's English county matches. Taking 13 wickets for 58 runs and hitting up 50, Tate played the principal part in Sussex innings win over Middlesex, which takes them to the top of the table. He shared in a partnership of 73 with Langridge, and then took 6 wickets for 30 runs in the Middlesex second innings.

Kent, leaders of the championship table until Saturday, were outplayed and beaten by 9 wickets by Gloucester, their batting breaking down badly before good bowling and keen fielding. A fine century by Sutcliffe—his eighth of the season and his seventh against Lancashire—gave Yorkshire a strong position in the match at Old Trafford. Leyland helped Sutcliffe to add 141 for the third wicket, and when Yorkshire declared with six wickets down they held a lead of 192 runs.

YACHTING.

ROYAL VICTORY AT COWES.

BRITANNIA LEADS FLEET ALL THE WAY.

The first day's racing of Cowes Week took place yesterday under the burgee of the Royal London Yacht Club, who provided a splendid programme of nine events, the principal of which was that for the large yachts, which sailed for the Cayley Memorial Challenge Cup.

The King was on board the Britannia, and the famous old cutter won a splendid race, leading the fleet all day. The south-westerly breeze gave the competitors a fair turn of windward work, and some fine sailing was witnessed.

The American boats had a runaway victory in the six-metre class, securing the first three places.

The five starters in the J class and yachts above 70 feet rating were:—Westward (scratch), Shamrock V. (receives 1 min. 39 secs.), White Heather II. (3 mins. 50 secs.), whilst the Royal cutter, Britannia, and Astra each had 5 mins. over the 39-mile course.

The start was timed for 11 o'clock. Britannia, with Westward Ho, leeward, were first away, then White Heather. Shamrock and Astra were both recalled, and thus lost 1 min. 45 secs. and 3 mins. 27 secs., respectively. Britannia weathered the Solent Banks Buoy first, Westward being second, and then came Shamrock, Astra and White Heather—which had experienced trouble, and lowered her staysail, but ultimately sailed on—last.

They ran with spinnakers to starboard back to Cowes Roads, where Britannia still led, but Shamrock was just showing ahead of Westward, Astra and White Heather, bringing up the rear.

After a reach to the Ryde North-East Middle they beat home to the line, the first round being timed:—Britannia, 1 hour 6 mins. 28 secs.; Westward, 1 hour 9 mins. 17 secs.; Shamrock, 1 hour 11 mins. 12 secs.; Astra, 1 hour 15 mins. 53 secs.; White Heather, 1 hour 24 mins. 32 secs.

Britannia now had the race well in hand, and she continued to lead the fleet over the last lap to win comfortably. Shamrock, the third boat home, took second prize and the schooner third. The corrected finishing times were:—

	H.	M.	S.
Britannia (winner)	3	2	14
Westward (3rd)	3	12	48
Shamrock V. (2nd)	3	12	36
Astra	3	15	24
White Heather	3	28	41

WICKLOW REGATTA.

BOBOLINK TAKES CUP FOR THIRD TIME.

Certainly the 17-Footers are the keenest class upon the Dublin coast line. No less than nine of them arrived at Wicklow on Sunday after a long and rather tiresome passage from Dun Laoghaire; for if there was nearly too much wind on Saturday there was too little on the following day. Yesterday there was a fresh W.N.W. breeze, and a rough sea off Wicklow, but eight turned out under plain sail to sail three rounds of a short inner course.

Before the start Oona got in trouble, and had to return to harbour in a crippled state. Bobolink led the others—Anita, Rosemary, Hera, Pauline, Leila, and Silver Moon in the order named—away at 2.5 p.m., and from that on never left the issue in doubt. Leila gave her the hardest race, and Silver Moon went third in the second round, but Bobolink (Mr. A. McMullan) was sailing on the top of her form and beat Leila by 1 min. 37 secs., and Silver Moon by 4 mins. 6 secs. at the finish. The order home of the remainder was Hera, Rosemary, Anita, Pauline. This is the third successive year that Bobolink has won the 17-Footers Cup at Wicklow.

(OLYMPIC GAMES IN PAGES 3 and 8.)

The cruisers handicap fell through. Were it not for the 17-Footers there would have been no sailing at the fixture.

The big rowing event of the day was the four-oared skiff race, in which the Congress Belle and Eileen II., of Dun Laoghaire, the Venture of Ringsend, the Whisper Low of Arklow, and the Colleen Bawn and Morning Star of Wicklow, competed. The water had calmed considerably when it was rowed off, and Congress Belle won well, with the Morning Star second and the Venture third.

HOWTH SAILING CLUB.

Saturday's race took place in a strong southerly wind. Three boats came to the line—Leila, Mimosa and Zaida. Spinnakers were set immediately, and Mimosa took the lead at the Island Mark, and when the Baldoyle mark was passed the order was Leila, Mimosa and Zaida, and remained so for the second round. Finish:—

	H.	M.	S.
Leila (Mr. Wm. McBride), 1 min.	5	11	57
Mimosa (Mr. R. N. Guinness), 2 min.	5	13	51
Zaida (Dr. H. H. Poole), scr.	5	19	47

CYCLING.

THE IRISH ROAD CLUB "TWENTY-FOUR."

KILLEAN WINS AFTER MANY TROUBLES.

The twenty-four hours' time-trial of the Southern Centre of the Irish Road Club, which started on Sunday evening, came to a conclusion at 6 o'clock yesterday evening, and resulted in a win for J. J. Killean, who a fortnight ago won the club's twelve hours' competition.

On his performance in that event Killean was looked upon as the most serious opponent of D. Lundstrom, last year's twenty-four winner and the holder of the Irish record of 366 miles. The issue between the pair was not decided, for Lundstrom fell during the night and had to retire, after seventeen hours.

Previous to Lundstrom's retiral Killean had a long, stern chase. Puncturing three tyres in succession, he lost a lot of time, and was thirty-six minutes behind Brady and twenty minutes behind Lundstrom when they had covered 86 miles.

Lundstrom and Brady had a keen struggle for the lead during the night, and, at 111 miles, 132 miles and 196 miles there was never more than two minutes between the pair. Meanwhile Killean was gradually overhauling the leaders, and, after being six miles in arrears at twelve hours, their respective distances being 186 and 180 miles, Killean went into the first place, and continued to get further away from Brady until the trial ended.

The approximate distances of those who rode out the full time were as under:—

	Miles.
J. J. Killean, Irish Road Club	355
P. Brady, Irish Road Club	345
H. Quinn, Irish Road Club	320
J. Fitzgibbon, Irish Road Club	298

F. Kelly, Century Road Club of New York	275

ANGLING.

SALMON FISHING ON THE BANN.

The Bann was low till the end of the week, and is now rising. More salmon are coming, and a better back-end than usual is expected. The lower parts were in spate long before the upper and middle reaches, and the fish from the hills reached these parts sooner. Major Frank Dixon killed two grilse, and Major D. Dixon a couple, and a visitor had one on Kilrea water. It is some time since there was such good fishing at Kilrea. The week was almost a blank on Carnroe. Over 300 fish, however, have been killed there this season. Salmon come in much earlier than they used to. Taken all round, it has been a fair season on the Bann.

KNOCK-OUT VICTORY FOR DICK CORBETT.

At Southend yesterday Young Johnny Brown was knocked out by Dick Corbett, British bantam weight champion, in the second round, after taking four rights clean on the jaw. Heavy rain held up the fight for nearly two hours. The floor of the ring was completely sodden, and sawdust was sprinkled over the surface. As the fight started rain again began to fall heavily, and it was difficult for the men to maintain their foothold. They slipped about the ring for nearly six minutes, then Corbett lashed out with his right. Brown took the blow on the jaw and tottered. Again he was struck with another vicious right and he went down. He rose at nine, but was an easy target for the champion's right, which, landing again, spreadeagled Brown.

ROSCREA OWNER'S DOUBLE.

CORK DOG'S SUCCESS AT SHELBOURNE PARK.

MR. G. LEWIS, the Roscrea owner, brought off a double event last night at Shelbourne Park with Leading Cutlet and Gun Bullie. The former won the Produce Stake by three lengths from the more fancied White Nosed King, while Gun Bullie took the Dublin Plate after a good race with Wise Choice.

The Cork dog, Kilbolane Hill, justified favouritism by winning the Shelbourne Stake in easy fashion, and the little fancied Coming Biddy just got up in the last stride to beat Osprey Condor by a short head in the Clonmel Stake of 550 yards. Details:—

BY DIRECTION OF THE RIGHT HON. VISCOUNT POWERSCOURT, K.P.

THE POWERSCOURT ESTATE, COUNTY WICKLOW,

INCLUDING THE FAMOUS WATERFALL, MANSION HOUSE, DEMESNE AND DEER PARK.

EMBRACING SOME 2,000 ACRES IN ALL.

ONE OF THE PRINCIPAL RESIDENTIAL ESTATES IN IRELAND, FOR IMMEDIATE DISPOSAL.

We have been favoured with instructions from the Right Honourable Viscount Powerscourt, K.P., to offer for Sale by private treaty, in one or more lots—

THE MAGNIFICENT MANSION, with its Gardens and Pleasure Grounds, is fully furnished, and will be included in a sale either with or without its furnishings. Throughout the Grounds are numerous notable examples of French Bronzes from the collection of Prince Jerome Napoleon, Paris; also Italian statuary, and these, together with numerous pairs of ornamental Venetian and Old English Gates, will also be included. Every modern equipment, including electric light, has been installed in the Mansion House, and an excellent SAW MILLS, in full working order, is a valuable adjunct.

THE LANDS are very extensive, running into some 2,000 acres, about 300 being agricultural land (both tillage and grazing) of good quality.

THE SPORTING FACILITIES attached to the property are unlimited and unequalled, whilst the surroundings of the Estate, situated in the Garden of Ireland, 'midst the Wicklow Hills, as a whole, have no parallel throughout Europe for scenic charm.

THE WORLD-FAMED WATERFALL, which is the highest in Europe, forms yet another attraction to the many features, and THE DEERPARK, which extends over 1,000 acres of moor and mountain, is fully stocked with about 100 Red and 500 Japanese Deer. The Deer Fence is in excellent order, and there is a good Forester's House. There are several excellent PLANTATIONS of Douglas Fir, Larch and other trees, planted from 1906 to 1924.

This Sale affords a unique opportunity to individuals or syndicates who have in mind the development of the TOURIST INDUSTRY, as both by reason of its accommodation, area, and location, it is ideally circumstanced for such a purpose, or for the establishment of a National Park.
